Night-time curfew quiets Orangeburg

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Gov. Robert McNair put this tense college town under a night-time curfew Friday and accused Black Power advocates of sparking violence in which three Negro students were shot to death.

Within minutes after the curfew became effective at 5 p.m., stores, businesses and theaters were closed. Only policemen were on the sidewalks.

Cars were allowed on the streets, but there were few of them.

State of emergency
McNair declared a state of emergency in Orangeburg after the three students were killed and 37 persons wounded when Negroes and police exchanged gunfire Thursday night. It was the fourth night of violence on or near the adjoining campuses of South Carolina State College and Claflin College.

Classes at S. C. State College were suspended indefinitely and by nightfall all but 75 students had left the campus for their homes. The remaining 75 awaited school buses being provided by the state.

The governor said the curfew would last from 5 p.m. Friday until 6 a.m. today and "will be reimposed at 5 p.m. today" until the situation eases.

President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark were asked by the state chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to send National Guardsmen from "neutral areas outside of South Carolina."

In a telegram, the organization said out-of-state guardsmen were needed "to guarantee safety of Negro citizens and students."

The Justice Department said it had received the request, but declined comment. The White House said it had not received the telegram.

Shooting outbreak
The outbreak of shooting started Thursday night when state troopers and National Guardsmen attempted to push students back onto a campus to close fires they had started.

McNair said, "It has become apparent that the incident last night was sparked by Black Power advocates who represented only a small minority of the total student bodies" at the schools.

Maceo Nance Jr., acting president of South Carolina State, said the atmosphere on the campus was "very tense" Friday and that classes had been suspended indefinitely.

Classes, however, were conducted on the Claflin campus, which does not have classes on Saturday.

Parents began arriving in Orangeburg about 7 a.m. to take students home. McNair's office and the state NAACP made plans to send buses to transport students to major cities in South Carolina.

Those killed Thursday night were Samuel Hammond, 18, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., a freshman; Delano Middleton, 17, an Orangeburg high school pupil, and Henry Smith, 18, of Marion, S.C., a sophomore. Hammond and Smith were students at South Carolina State.

A spokesman for South Carolina State said the three were "in a group on which patrolmen were charging."

Gov. McNair, calling it "one of the saddest days in the history of South Carolina," said the deaths and injuries came only after a lengthy period of sniper fire from the campus "and not until an officer had been killed during his efforts to protect life and property."

The racial unrest in Orangeburg began Monday night with a rock-throwing demonstration against the All-Star Bowling Lanes, a privately owned alley operated by Harry K. Floyd on a segregated basis.

Floyd said Negro students have been trying to integrate the establishment since passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The bowling alley is one of the few public facilities in Orangeburg which is not integrated. Most restaurants and Orangeburg's four theaters are patronized by Negroes.

Rockefeller-Lindsay tiff over New York's trash

Pileup entering ninth day

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller accused Mayor John V. Lindsay Friday night of a breach of position in the city's eight-day garbage strike, but conceded that "I can call out the National Guard and if necessary I will call out the National Guard."

"But," the Republican governor added in a television address to the city's 8 million people, "there are very real risks as far as the stability and structure of organized labor and organized community life is concerned."

As the city became increasingly inundated by a massive garbage pileup, Rockefeller's deepening division with Lindsay became apparent. He said his own peace formula which the mayor vetoed would have cost the city only $250,000 more than it already was prepared to pay striking sanitation workers.

Rockefeller called Lindsay's rejection of the formula a "breach of the position he had previously taken in relation to the union."

No comment
Lindsay's office said there would be no immediate comment on the governor's address.

Rockefeller took the air after Lindsay refused to reconsider the peace formula which he had rejected early in a day of mounting crisis.

"There is nothing to reconsider," Lindsay declared, underlining the breach between New York's two nationally known Republicans. Fatigue and strain were etched on the mayor's face and reflected in his posture.

The situation took on new urgency Friday when private trash collections were all but halted in the city, adding 5,000 tons a day to the massive pileup.

Alfred Katz, an executive of the striking Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association, declared:

"This city is going to be inundated in garbage. People are going to drown in it unless something is done soon."

Bernard Adelstein, a Teamsters Union official, said 80 per cent of the private cartmen were honoring newly established picket lines at city sanitation depots. The Sanitationmen's Association is a Teamsters affiliate.

Private pickups
Private carters pick up 6,000 tons of refuse a day, mainly from stores, hotels and restaurants in congested midtown Manhattan. About 1,000 tons is carted to New Jersey, and this portion was not affected by the picketing.

Midtown had been largely unaffected by the sanitation strike during its first week. But with little storage space available for trash, the private cartmen's actions made the outlook grim.

Lindsay, meanwhile, refused to reconsider Rockefeller's formula for settling the sanitation strike, and in turn the governor ruled out National Guard assistance to the city.

Earlier in the day, Lindsay turned down a $425-a-year wage increase proposed by a Rockefeller mediation panel for 10,000 striking sanitation men. The union accepted it, but Lindsay called it "a little blackmail."

appointed by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller were rejected by Mayor John Lindsay as "too expensive." (UPI Telephoto)

U.S. jets attack airfield at Haiphong to end drought

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy jets attacked an airfield four miles southeast of Haiphong Friday, military headquarters reported today. The strike apparently signaled the end of a month-long U.S. restraint on bombing around North Vietnam's two key cities during attempts to get peace talks started.

The strike at Cat Bi airbase, last hit in a radar-guided strike Jan. 9, came one day after U.S. State Department officials in Washington said President Johnson had lifted restrictions on bombing military targets near Hanoi and the port of Haiphong.

In the ground war, a South Vietnamese military spokesman said U.S. Marines had scored fresh gains in the northern city of Hue as the battle for the old imperial capital entered its 12th day. He said small groups of the enemy were retreating toward three small towns to the south.

Control station
The spokesman said the Leathernecks had taken control of Hue's railroad station, soccer stadium and the Phu Cam administrative complex in the city. But there was no late word from the city's old walled Citadel, where at last report enemy remnants still held out against government troops.

The U.S. Command reported that Friday, the 11th day of the Communists' lunar new year push, brought another 1,085 enemy dead, raising the total since Jan. 23 to 27,706.

If accurate, the figures indicate the allies have killed 10 of the enemy for each of their own dead. The allied death toll for the offensive was put at 2,707—920 Americans, 1,733 South Vietnamese and 54 other allies.

In the strike on Cat Bi, Navy A6 Intruder pilots said strings of 1,000-pound bombs cut across the intersection of runways. But heavy overcast and darkness prevented further damage assessment.

Fighter field
The field is big enough to handle Communist MIG interceptors but there have been no reports of the fighters operating from it in recent months. U.S. spokesmen said they want to keep the field inoperative.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Sunday in a broadcast interview, "We have exercised some restraint in our bombing in North Vietnam" while diplomatic efforts were under way to determine if Hanoi would taper off militarily if the United States stopped bombing.

The A6 all-weather Intruders made several other strikes farther out from Haiphong.

Routine transmission
The Jan. 20 message was described as a routine transmission reporting a couple of fishing boats off the ship's bow.

The Pentagon said the Pueblo operated without radar surveillance of any kind for 12 days prior to her capture. She was under orders, U.S. officials said, not to enter North Korea's territorial waters.

In response to questions, the Pentagon reported that no U.S. vessels were assigned to track by radar the Pueblo's movements between Jan. 19 and 21 to keep a record of her locations.

Government officials previously had said there was no specific reference to any gunfire in messages from the Pueblo during the encounter.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said last Sunday that the Pueblo observed radio silence from Jan. 10 until Jan. 21, two days before her capture.

This was to avoid detection while operating off North Korea.

U.S. sends Vance to Korean talks

Cyrus R. Vance

Segal arrested in looting case

NEW YORK (AP) — FBI agents arrested stockbroker Alan Irving Segal, 44, Friday and charged him with disposing of securities taken in a $488,732 looting of a Los Angeles brokerage firm.

Two young women employees of the firm, who police say figured in the theft, were killed within a few weeks in the "Whisky Creek murders" in Hollywood, Fla.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson dispatched troubleshooter Cyrus R. Vance to Seoul, Korea, Friday night to talk with President Chung Hee Park about the "grave threat" of North Korean hostile acts.

Vance, former deputy secretary of defense, left by special plane, accompanied by State and Defense Department officials, the White House said.

In connection with a discussion of measures the two governments are taking to deal with hostile acts against them, the White House said, Vance will talk with the Korean chief executive about the $100 million in additional military aid Johnson has asked of Congress.

South Korea has been disturbed over concentration in talks at Panmunjom between the United States and North Korea on the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its crew of 83.

The decision to draft Vance for the Korean assignment was regarded as another step in attempting to smooth troubled conditions.

Vance has served Johnson on a number of occasions, such as during the Detroit riots last year and the recent threat of a Greek-Turkish war over Cyprus.

The White House said in a statement that Vance departed Friday night in a special plane.

Constitutional Convention

Revision of state debt faces test

HARRISBURG (AP) — A proposed revision to the constitution raising the $1 million state debt limit was submitted for drafting Friday by the Constitutional Convention.

The action, approved by a unanimous vote, virtually assured the proposal being placed on the April primary election ballot, although the convention must pass on the issue once more.

Under the proposal, the General Assembly would be empowered to borrow up to 1.75 times the average annual amount of tax receipts for five years in order to finance capital spending.

The immediate effect would be to raise the legislature's borrowing authority to $2.3 billion. Any amount in excess of that would need the approval of the voters.

Despite the $1 million debt limit written into the state's 94-year-old constitution, the provision has been circumvented through creation of independent borrowing authorities to issue bonds for the financing of public construction projects.

Authority debts
Authority debts now total $1.2 billion, and they would be included in the state debt under the proposal submitted to the convention's Style and Drafting Committee.

Adjourn until Monday
After spending half a day on a question-and-answer session on the proposal, the convention adjourned until Monday, at which time amendments are to be offered.

The proposal would retain but narrow the current constitutional exemptions granted to churches, cemeteries, public property, charitable institutions and veterans' organizations.

Use, rather than ownership, would be the deciding factor in granting exemptions.

A portion of the state's current gross receipts tax on utilities would be returned to counties, municipalities and school districts partially to compensate somewhat for local tax exemptions on utility operating facilities.

Henderson seeks post as Rooney foe

ALLENTOWN — Lehigh County Sheriff Paul Henderson is seeking the Republican nomination for congressman in the 15th Congressional District, which includes Monroe County.

The Lehigh County Republican Committee early Friday morning announced that Henderson was a candidate for the nomination to oppose incumbent Democrat Fred B. Rooney.

Dr. Evan C. Reese, Monroe County Republican Committee chairman, said Friday night that officials at the Republican Headquarters in Lehigh County had submitted a petition to him at the General Hospital.

The petition will be circulated in Monroe County beginning this morning.

Two people hit by car

MOUNT POCONO — Two people, both believed to be guests of an area resort, were struck by a car here early this morning (Saturday).

The two people, whose names and addresses were unknown at press time, were reportedly walking down toward the middle of town from north of the borough when they were reportedly struck by a car.

The ambulance was on the way to the General Hospital of Monroe County at 12:50 a.m.

Sterling church sets dates

SOUTH STERLING — Three "supper dates" have been set by the South Sterling Methodist Church.

April 27 will be a pancake supper at South Sterling. Menus for the June 29 and November 9 suppers will be decided at a later date.

In addition to planning special events, including the Summer programs which will feature, among others, Anne Werisner Wood in a program on gardens, the official board, meeting at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Edna Smith, South Sterling, discussed improvements and changes now under way at the church.

A novel idea has been approved in connection with the placing of 204 square yards of blue-green nylon tufted carpeting at the church. A poster has been erected and anyone wishing to donate eight dollars may color in his own square yard of carpeting located anywhere in the church.

Among the improvements at the church are newly painted and re-set doors, painting throughout, storm windows and new pulpit furnishings.

Bonds cashed, not cached

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans cashed in more savings bonds than they bought during January, for the second straight month, the Treasury Department reported Monday.

The new pastor, who will take over his duties Feb. 15, is the Rev. Samuel A. Huffard, a native of Philadelphia.

Rev. Huffard will replace the Rev. Frank Wingerter, who is now pastor of the Shawnee Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Peter K. Rhimons, pastor emeritus of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Scranton, will deliver the main sermon during the installation.

Others who will take part in the ceremonies are Rev. Charles Cummings, Community Presbyterian Church, Portland; Rev. J. William Giles, pastor, First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg; Elder Gordon L. Coy, Stroudsburg; Rev. Dr. Elwyn Tilden, Lafayette.

Also, Rev. Gorman Roof, executive and stated clerk, Allentown, and Elder Edwin D. West, East Stroudsburg.

A reception for Rev. and Mrs. Huffard will be held following the service and the public is invited.

The new pastor, 34, was graduated from Dickinson College and received his theological degree from Princeton.

Since 1955, Rev. Huffard was pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church, Gap, Pa.

He is married to the former Barbara Ann Potter of Upper Darby. The couple has four children and take up residence in the church's temporary manse at 271 Prospect St., East Stroudsburg.

Pastor to give second sermon

STROUDSBURG — Pastor L. W. Drury of the Pilgrim Holiness Church, 208 Main St., Stroudsburg, will give his second sermon on the general subject "Christ Returneth," Sunday night at 7:30.

The first in the series dealt with the "Fact Of Christ's Coming" back to earth again and appropriate Bible passages were sighted.

"The Certainty of Christ's Coming Again" will be the theme on Sunday night when special singing and congregational singing of related gospel songs will be featured.

Those interested in attending a gospel service on Sunday night are welcome.

Zion UCC service set

STROUDSBURG — Worship service at Zion United Church of Christ, 14 N. Eighth St., Stroudsburg, will be held at 11 a.m. Sunday. Two morning anthems by the Teen-Senior Choir will be featured, entitled "Holy Art Thou" by Handel and "Go Into Every Nation" by Dosa Carlson.

The sermon, "The Use of Living" will be delivered by Rev. Marshall J. Riu, pastor.

The church school session begins at 9:45 a.m.

Urban affairs installation

PORTLAND — Flowers were placed on the Communion Table in the Portland - Mount Bethel Community Presbyterian Church on Sunday by Mrs. Walter F. Emery and son, Walter Charles Emery in memory of Mrs. Emery's mother, Mrs. C. E. Beck, birthday anniversary.

Announcement was made that the Rev. James Rumsey will be installed as Director of Urban Affairs at the Bethlehem Church on Sunday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

The speaker will be the associate general secretary of the Board of National Missions. Rev. Rumsey will be setting up inter-city work in Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown. All members of the local church are urged to attend this meeting.

View from a new house

Corinthians 5:1 "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

On preparing to move into a new home, one must do a lot of preparation. So many details that need attention. Careful thought and planning in almost every step. One becomes almost completely absorbed in the contemplation of the move. No matter how pressing other business may be, there is always time to consult with the builder and contractors in the construction of the new home.

Seldom, if ever, does the estimate of cost ever become an accurate picture. There are always additional costs that come as a complete surprise and have to be met if one is to achieve the final goal of his new home. All obstacles are somehow overcome, and in the long run, the extra energy and money needed seems but a minor consideration in the completion of one's new abode.

During pause in painting operations the other night, I gazed out of my window and contemplated on the towns of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg sprawling beneath my view. Night gave a cloak of deep blue velvet to the hundreds of diamond like twinkling lights presenting a most peaceful and inspiring view.

Yet, I knew that all was not beautiful. If one could use a super-telescope he could then pick up the trouble spots and the ugly side effects of a community with growing pains. The beautiful is often combined with the ugly.

Amid the twinkling lights were homes lit with the bare bulbs of sorrow and troubled hearts. The hospital lights revealed that behind all the beauty was pain and suffering. The radio monitor at my side picked up the police activities on such a beautiful night revealing the cancer of minor crime and general wrongdoing so abundant even in our own small community.

Yes one must take more than a passing look at all he sees. If he seeks the truth, he must take a hard, long look at what first appears to be all beauty and innocence.

No matter what we hold dear in this earthly life, we must look at the hard truth that at best we are here only temporarily and our earthly house will be dissolved as a vapor. Our present home (the body) will force us to move into a new home and unless adequate planning and consultation with the Builder has been accomplished we shall not have a new home made of God.

There will be "extra costs" perhaps demanded of us in order to conform our plans with that of The Master Builder. But, will it not be worth it? We know that all of us, will eventually have a new home — but what kind and in what location?

The church is God's business office, and your future plans are discussed and local contractors are at hand to give advice and help both for this present existence and for our eternal existence. The Bible is the great guide in building a stronger, more loving faith and should be consulted often.

Not even a fool would attempt to build a home without some thought of planning. Yet we in our so-called wisdom think it not necessary to give some of our time to reverent thought and planning for our future home.

Call at God's Office this SUNDAY. His representative will make you more than welcome and the benefits gained will be your own.

Vocalists to appear before YFC

STROUDSBURG — The Vocal-Heirs will be appearing in person at Monroe County Youth for Christ, 18 N. Sixth St., at 7:30 p.m.

These 12 high school and college age young people have traveled extensively from New York to Washington, D.C. The "group," as they refer to themselves, has had a vast musical background with various members having worked with the Sparrows, the Camp-of-the-Woods Orchestra and Chorus, and the Sandy Cove Choralaires, as well as high school and college choruses.

The Vocal-Heirs, under the direction of Ron Lentini, have been seen and heard on radio and television and have participated in youth rallies. A truck load of sound and lighting equipment, valued at over $5,000, is put to use in each concert.

Former pastor supper guest

CANADENSIS — The former pastor of the Canadensis Moravian Church will be the guest at a congregational supper Sunday at 6 p.m. A fellowship hour will follow the supper.

Sunday services will be held at 10:45 a.m. and Sunday School will begin at 9:30 a.m.

On Wednesday, the Women's Workshop will meet at 2 p.m. to repair hymnals.

Methodist bishop says race not war overriding issue

BUCK HILL FALLS — "Not the war in Vietnam, but the race issue, is the greatest blot on America's image throughout the world today," says Bishop Prince A. Taylor, Jr. of the New Jersey Area of the Methodist Church.

"During my tour of the East I was asked most frequently about the race problem in the USA, the climate in church life and the war in Vietnam. There are those who ask why an affluent country like the United States cannot find ways to lift its minorities beyond the level of poverty, what the Church in America is doing about the race problem, and what is happening on the local church level."

Addressing the Annual Convocation on the Ministry at Buck Hill this week, Bishop Taylor, leader of N. J. Methodism, just returned with Mrs. Taylor from a two-month visit to southeast Asia, told more than 300 clergymen that the countries he visited are friends of America and are directly involved in the Vietnam War on the side of the US.

Even the Church abroad cannot muster opinion, the bishop indicated. "The New Zealand Conference of Methodism asked its government to withdraw its troops from Vietnam, but the resolution has not been strongly supported. People seem to have a spirit of apathy and helplessness about Vietnam. But they ask many questions about the American race problem. It is America's eyesore and greatly reduces its image as a world defender of the rights of man."

Bishop Taylor, who had just completed 33,000 miles of air travel to gain a broader knowledge of the Church in the world, said the trip was "most educational." He visited Hawaii, Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, and Fiji.

TO HER PUPILS EVERY DAY IS ST. VALENTINE'S OR LOVE DAY

Teacher, in the beginning grades, is likely to get a Valentine any day in the year, for to these pupils of tender age Valentines aren't associated with any particular day—they are associated with LOVE and the children love a good teacher. And they will love a teacher who has a flaming desire to implant and nurture intellect and character, to be of service to mankind and God. She is not in the profession just to "get by" and draw her pay, for she could demand a higher salary in other lines of work.

Such a thoroughly trained and deeply dedicated teacher gets invaluable aid through attendance and service at church. This is because the greatest teaching comes from the Bible, upon which the Church is founded. It is also a text on the life of the greatest of teachers. The Church will supply dynamic life, inspiration and aid to teachers and will help build lives to whom everyday is St. Valentine's—Love Day.

Up Milford Way

Old lockup thing of past

By Norman B. Lehde

THE REMOVAL of the old lockup from the Milford Borough Building marks the end of an era. The area will be converted into washroom space.

The lockup has not been used as a prison for about two decades but it was once a very important part of the borough operation. Those confined therein were usually minor disturbers of the peace, men who had a "few too many" and were either eager to display their fistful powers or were rendering dissertations on the world in general.

It was also a haven for the traveler and transient. Many a wanderer, on a cold or stormy night, requested the local chief of police of constable to allow him to spend the night in the lockup.

Since it provided something less than maximum security, it was seldom, if ever, used for the imprisonment of any one known to be of genuine criminal tendencies. A local youth, Donald Hyatt, who returned from a reformatory with a gang of buddies in the spring of 1923, quickly demonstrated that it was no Alcatraz.

One thing is certain, its passing will evoke no nostalgia. It was a reminder of a day when man's response to the troubles of man took a more primitive and cruder form.

IT WILL BE interesting to note if President James E. Colbert's appeal to local Midway League fathers will be answered by increased attendance when the league holds a meeting at the Borough Building on Monday, Feb. 12.

Colbert has warned that, if more fathers did not consider themselves a part of the operation of the league, there was a definite possibility that the circuit, which has provided a baseball program for boys for 15 years, might cease to operate.

The animal fund-raising activity, which always precedes the opening of a new season, lies just ahead. This embraces much detail and plenty of leg work. When a relatively small corps of workers have performed this task for several years they are just bound to slow up, feel more than a little tired, and wonder if anyone else really cares very much. We believe the youth baseball program is a fine one and we are not alone in our opinion. We are optimistic that there will be a fine response to Colbert's appeal in a show

Musician explains area plans

BUCK HILL FALLS — Barrett Township residents, who within the past year objected strenuously to a youth rehabilitation center in their midst, are exhibiting the old saw, "Once burned, twice shy." They are finding however that lightning hasn't struck twice in the same place.

William Scheneman, representing the Mid-Atlantic Music and Arts Center, which recently negotiated the purchase of Onawa Lodge, gave a resume of plans to the board of supervisors and those spectators attending the regular supervisor's meeting in Buck Hill Falls firehouse Thursday night.

After outlining the center's plans for the coming season, Scheneman indicated his willingness to answer questions and received some which pointed up what the township residents have been thinking since the news of the purchase was made public.

Answers to questions

In response to the query, "Why did you leave the other place to come here?" Scheneman replied that the previous site had been owned by an estate which was not interested in selling any of its land. This, he pointed out, made it impossible for the center to draw on foundation funds to erect necessary buildings. "You can't expect a foundation to build a building worth $5,000 or $10,000 on land that isn't theirs."

Sanitation facilities for the influx of people due to the concert season, Scheneman explained, had been gone into in detail with James LaCoe, Monroe County Public Health officer, who assured the group that this phase of preparation had been considered and several alternatives were open to the center.

Asked what type of youth would participate in the programs each summer, Scheneman replied that they were 17 to 18 years of age on the average and dedicated music students who would be studying under the supervision of master musicians. Later in a private conversation he noted that "I don't put up with any beatniks."

There are expected to be some 200 students participating in the summer session with a staff of 12 to 15 families involved. Scheneman told the group that the students would be practicing instruments and taking classes from seven to 10 hours a day. They would then participate in various ways with the musical productions and concerts which are to be scheduled for Thursday through Sunday of each week between June 23 and August 4.

George Cowton, who has been conducting these classes for a number of years, will again be the instructor. Registration fee is $10 and beginner, novice and advanced classes will be held. The Milford Garden Club is slated to hear an address on big game hunting in Africa at their meeting on Tuesday afternoon. William Opyd, who recently returned from a safari, will be the speaker.

Col. Henry Emerson of Milford will return to Vietnam on Tuesday, Feb. 2. The "Gun Fighter" will command an infantry brigade.

Teachers seek voice in new D. V. school

MILFORD — The Delaware Valley School Directors held a lengthy session Thursday night with most of the three hour meeting being devoted to discussion.

A delegation of faculty members were present at the meeting to express their dissatisfaction with the architects' designs of the new high school building.

The faculty contended they had not been consulted or asked for suggestions in regard to room space and general layout. Included in the group were William Hendrian, Ronald Robacker, John Millsbaugh, Ronald McMaster and Mary Jane Gilpin.

Board members pointed out that the present plans were still preliminary and changes might still be made. It was also pointed out that any changes in the basic building design would result in further delay in the building schedule which is now one year behind its original target date.

County Superintendent Leland Cramer stated that faculty members had been asked to submit suggestions to him in writing in regard to the new building, but none had been received.

Unaware of request

Two of the teachers present, Hendrian and Robacker, stated they were unaware of this request for suggestions.

The board president, Dr. Alan Zulfick, closed the discussion and, acting on a proposal by Leonard Maltzer, president of the building needs committee, requested that all department heads file a written copy of any suggestions and comments they have in regard to the new building by Tuesday, Feb. 20. A copy will be sent to the architects, Ballante and Clouss. The firm will be asked to have a representative present to discuss these changes and suggestions on either Tuesday, Feb. 27, or Thursday, Feb. 29.

Richard Gassman, a member of the Matamoras Borough Council, was present to request information in regard to installing flashing lights at a school crossing on the highway in Matamoras Borough.

Gassman was requested to procure a cost estimate and report back to the board at which time cost sharing of the lights and installation would be discussed.

George Campbell, a school bus driver, was present and explained that Interstate 84 construction in the Matamoras - Westfall area would result in the elimination of a present street and cause 26 pupils, because of the greater distance they would have to walk, to be eligible for bus transportation.

Request map

At Campbell's suggestion, the board will request a detailed map of plans for the new highway and interchange in the Matamoras - Westfall area so that needed transportation changes may be planned in advance.

Director Nancy Sigal reported that only one mother of the 11 pupils eligible for kindergarten classes in the Dingman - Delaware Townships area next autumn, could provide transportation to Milford.

The district does not provide any transportation to kindergarten classes and such transportation that is provided would not be reimbursable by state funds. The matter was referred to the curriculum committee for further study.

It was announced that the first budget meeting would be held Tuesday.

STROUDSBURG — Robert E. Kintner, of Washington, D.C., former secretary in the United States cabinet and special assistant to President Lyndon B. Johnson, is presenting a scholarship in the amount of $1,500 to a graduate of the class of 1968 at Stroudsburg High School for furthering the latter's education.

Kintner is a graduate of Stroudsburg High and has served as president of both the American Broadcasting Co. and National Broadcasting Co.

Samuel O. Wells, III, acting superintendent, stated in making the announcement that this is the 19th consecutive year that Kintner has given the scholarship in memory of his mother, Mrs. Lillian S. Kintner.

Formal presentation will take place at the annual commencement exercises to be held Wednesday, June 12.

The winner of the award is to be selected from a list of three eligible seniors submitted by the Stroudsburg High faculty to the Kintner Scholarship Committee.

The award is based on the following qualifications: scholastic attainment (top 10th of class), extra-curricular activities with no emphasis on athletics and the financial need of the student.

The Kintner Scholarship Committee is comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edinger, Herbert B. Crane, Dr. Robert Brown, Harold C. Edwards and Earl F. Groner.

Three calls for Barrett firemen

BUCK HILL FALLS — Barrett Township Volunteer Firemen were called out three times Thursday to the site of three different fires, one of which was an assist to Mount Pocono Firemen at the blaze which leveled buildings at Skyline Inn.

The first call came at 1:20 p.m. when the company was called to Buck Hill Falls Family Ski area where a ski patrol shed was gutted by a fire which was fought by the crew for nearly an hour.

The third call was to the Robert's Trailer Court in Mountainhome where exterior oil spillage caught fire. The fire was out on the arrival of the 11-man crew.

In the company's assist to Mount Pocono, 25 men worked with Mount Pocono firemen for two hours with the Barrett tanker and pumper.

For the two Barrett fires, Fire Chief Charles Ayers had no estimate available on damages and reasons for the fires were yet to be determined in both cases.

Nye to speak at Sunday's scout outing

Krawitz state representative candidate in 139th district

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg Attorney Edwin Krawitz Friday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for State Representative from the 139th District.

The district comprises parts of Monroe County and all of Wayne and Pike Counties.

Krawitz, 39, is a native of Wayne County and is solicitor for the borough of East Stroudsburg.

Active in many civic organizations, Krawitz was voted Young Man of the Year in 1964 by the Pocono Mountain Jaycees. He is past president of the Kiwanis Club, Stroudsburg.

Krawitz also served as chairman of the fund drive for the Burnley Workshop. He is a member of the board of directors of the Kiwanis Pre-School for Mentally Handicapped Children. He is also a broker for the Pocono Realty real estate firm.

He is a graduate of Hawley High School, Penn State University and the University of Pennsylvania Law School. At Penn State, he received the McKean Club outstanding student award. He is also a member of the Pennsylvania and Monroe County Bar associations.

Executive committee

He served on the Monroe County Republican executive committee as president of the Young Republican Club and was the State Young Republican chairman. He was also an unsuccessful candidate for Monroe County district attorney in 1959. "I hope that I can be given the opportunity to serve the people of this district," Krawitz said.

"My background of having been born and raised in Wayne County, having lived in Pike County during my legal apprenticeship and now as a resident of Monroe County, coupled with my legal training and community service, I believe qualifies me to know the people and problems of the entire district and will enable me to serve all of the people and not just the segment from my own county."

"While many do not like the fact that in the 139th District there is only one representative serving all of the people of Wayne, Pike and part of Monroe county, I believe that I can in a small way solve the problem since my roots in each of the locales comprising the district will qualify me best to look out for the interest of the people in the entire district, not just the county where I presently reside," he said.

Korean veteran

A veteran of the Korean War, Krawitz is a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, and past director of the Cancer Society, Visiting Nurses Assn., and Pocono District Boy Scouts.

Krawitz and his wife, Barbara, have two children, Steven and Minda.

He is the son of Mrs. Mollie Krawitz, 516 Spring St., Hawley, and the late Simon Krawitz.

Mt. Pocono car, truck crash scene

MOUNT POCONO — A tractor-trailer and passenger vehicle collided Thursday at 2 a.m. on U.S. 611 in the borough of Mount Pocono, with minor injury to the operator of the car, Mount Pocono police reported.

Donald F. Helffrich, 22, of Allentown, stationed at Tobyhanna Army Depot, was passing a tractor-trailer moving north on U.S. 611. After pulling into the right hand lane again he collided with the right rear of another tractor-trailer, totally destroying his vehicle, police explained.

Stanley Simon of Scranton, 35, was operator of the tractor-trailer. Police estimated damage at $100 to the trailer.

Helffrich was taken to the General Hospital of Monroe County for treatment of lacerations and possible concussion.

Police Chief James Carey was the investigating officer.

State colleges not 'tuition-free'

The no-money family that thinks its problems of financing higher education are solved when its offspring is accepted at a state college can get a check book awakening when the time comes to pay up.

At East Stroudsburg College the annual charge for room and board is $612. Of course a family should expect to pay that but often it is overlooked in planning. But then comes the shocker. There's a $300 annual "fee". When you add required books (about $100) plus a personal allowance of, say, $10 per week, the package comes to almost $1,500 per year.

That brings a "free" state education right back to what it cost Old Dad's Dad to send him to Swinburn U., a first class private school, 25 or so years ago.

The 'free' comes with strings

Nobody is saying college costs haven't gone up or that they aren't going up some more. And it should also be noted that the $612 annual room and board at ESSC is very reasonable. It's just that while some are talking about a free college education for all who qualify and others are bragging about a loan and scholarship program that puts college within the reach of all, college remains a considerable investment that someone has to pay. And the state isn't paying as much as it would like us to think.

It is misrepresentation when the state pretends to support "tuition free" schools primarily to produce teachers but then charges "fees" that are in reality nothing less than token tuition.

At least in acknowledging the situation, Governor Shafer doesn't resort to complete subterfuge. His budget message this week suggested that "the three state related universities and the 13 state colleges and Indiana University raise their tuition $100..."

That at least is calling "fees" by their right name but it is getting farther away from the original status and purpose of state colleges.

College purpose changes

Actually, we don't know why it isn't logical to change the status of state colleges because, in truth, their purpose is changing.

Once they were training schools for teachers and it was considered wise to subsidize the cost as an incentive to prospective teachers. This sort of put the students in debt to government and may have seemed to justify the low salaries that then were paid to teachers. This was a lifetime debt that was hardly fair.

The change has been more than an upgrading of teacher income, however. It has been in courses offered at the state colleges where an increasingly lower percentage of the students will ever be teachers.

Most still train to be teachers but many of those never get around to it. What's more the curriculum is switching to liberal arts to provide, simply, educated people to step into better jobs in almost any field.

It is low cost general education subsidized by the state — but far from "free".

Coin corner

Fortune in gold

BY ROBERT SVENSSON

One of the world's greatest collections of gold coins may soon be consigned to "America's Attic." Which is to say the awe-inspiring collection of gold by the late Josiah K. Lilly is headed for the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. When it happens, the Smithsonian will rise to the level of the Hermitage Museum of Leningrad as a repository of historic gold coins.

Josiah K. Lilly, until his death in 1966, was board chairman of Eli Lilly & Co., pharmaceuticals. His love of numismatics was but one facet of a remarkable career of collecting. He acquired many important artifacts in addition to coins during his lifetime.

The Lilly gold collection is of such magnitude as to stagger the imagination. In quantity alone, it would give the average coin collector feelings of abject inferiority.

Appraisers report more than 6,000 separate gold coins. Covered is everything from ancient Greek coins to modern U.S. gold and Latin American coins. Even gold bars used in the West in the last century are included.

U.S. Coins

Of special interest to U.S. coin collectors are the specimens of gold coins of our nation. Included are both issues of the United States Mints as well as territorial gold coins and bars produced privately.

There are 1,277 pieces in the United States portion of the Lilly collection. Only a single coin, the 1870 unique $3 gold collection is complete. This is probably the only collection in the world so complete.

How much is the Lilly collection worth?

The United States will allow a tax credit to the Lilly estate for making this gift to the Smithsonian. The credit is expected to be over $5 million. Based on this credit, it is estimated the collection is worth over $20 million.

Future in crime

Everybody talks about crime. This year it's in. The country on the take. The credo is: do it to them before they do it to you. Steal, legally if you can, illegally if you must. Hurt a stranger. It makes you feel big. Kill, but only if you cannot assuage your hostility in any other way. Cover your tracks. Commandments number one to ten are "Do not get caught."

The policeman is now the defendant. You don't have to prove a thing. He does. He is chained by court decisions involving search and seizure, apprehension, interrogation and confessions. Clam up. If you have a good lawyer, you may be able to get the cop suspended.

He's a dropout averaging $5,000 a year. He's a skinhead riding a slow purler car to nowhere; eight to four, four to twelve, twelve to eight. His pants shine. His eyes squint. He owes bills. Sometimes, he is on the take himself and he wonders if an extra $20 bill is worth a couple of little dresses or two pairs of shoes or one code of honor.

The hoodlum scares the cop because a pill or a powder brings its own courage. A youth with a gun is taller than Marshal Dillon and twice as fast. When he is caught, he becomes a little boy again, misguided, misunderstood, unloved, unwanted, insane, not responsible. No one ever got an affidavit from a dead policeman. A headstone cannot testify.

Crimes get worse

The graph chart of American population is a rising slope. The crime chart is a hawksaw with big teeth. It is unsafe for an American to walk alone after dark. Robbery, by itself is no longer attractive. It must be accompanied by bedroom rape, or a threat to dump gasoline and a match into a bassinet. The little extras make the difference.

The new criminal is youthful, with long upswept hair, no fingernails, a lean lips face, jeans with a comb in the hip pocket, contempt for his parents and a convulsive nervousness which he does not understand. He is doubly dangerous because he is best by nameless fears and becomes superman only when he works in concert with a gang. Or when he swallows enough bravery pills.

There are more white criminals than colored, but there are more colored per capita than white. The fall from home to prison isn't far for the Negro malcontent. Free, he's a loser. In jail he's an equal. Doing time can be like getting a gold star.

Crime has two attractions: it makes the lawless smarter than the law; it brings bread without labor. The excitement is frenzied because every caper is a new test. A punk is a wayward student who never gets a passing grade. He flunks breaking and entering; armed robbery; hoisting a monkey; pushing grass; ganging a cop; abusing a girl.

He must always negotiate a bigger thing because it is the only way he can erase his failures. Give him sufficient time and he will blast his way across three states in a stolen car, murdering entire families and surrendering from behind a woman who cannot hear him sob. This is an age of disenchantment. Children despise the parents who buy them daily. Parents resent the child who requires affection and attention. It's a busy world. Toss the kid a windup toy and let's get the hell out of here. Twenty years later, it is: toss mom a kiss and let's crack a killing station.

What we can do. What can you do? Lots. If there is still time, discipline your children until they learn to discipline themselves. This makes responsible citizens. Step two: ask yourself honestly if you cheat in business, your spouse, your government, your friends, law-enforcement agencies. If the answer is yes, you need help before you can help others.

If the answer is no, ask your town fathers how you can make your area a confident community. Your policemen may not be saints, but it's better to work with the law than to watch a crime perpetrated with the detachment of a neutral mouse. If you don't like your police department, agitate for a better one. In some cities, the only way you can tell the good guys from the bad ones is that the baddies wear uniforms.

A week ago, J. Edgar Hoover wrote: "Law-abiding citizens and local officials should vigorously oppose concerted attacks against law enforcement and the devious moves to negate local authority and replace it with federal power."

He means that you and I should stop being neutral...

Don MacLean

It's only money

WASHINGTON — The trouble with a $186 billion budget is that the average man — who makes an average $100 per week — cannot grasp a sum such as that. The object of today's column is to translate $186 billion into terms everyone can understand.

The first thing you must do is stop thinking of $186 billion as a lot of money. Actually, according to President Johnson, the fiscal 1969 budget not only is "tight" but even "austere," and it is the least possible amount the government can scrape by on.

Let us now come to grips with this thing. In terms of change $186 billion is only 744 billion quarters. It is a mere one trillion, 860 billion Franklin Roosevelt dimes. It is 18 trillion, 600 billion pennies (which you and I save all the time); and three trillion, 720 billion nickels (which I would like to have de Gaulle's nose full of).

Crisp, new $1 bills stack 233 to the inch, according to the Treasury Department. Therefore, it would take $2,796 to make a one-foot-high stack. A mile-high stack would be worth $14,762,880 in $1 bills. The budget, $186 billion dollars, would make a stack almost 13,000 miles high, or nearly one-twentieth of the distance to the moon.

Another way to appreciate how little $186 billion is might be to pretend that you had it to spend and were getting rid of it at the rate of $1,000 per second (which is slightly faster than my wife can do it in the supermarket, but not much). At $1,000 per second, it would take you close to six years to spend $186 billion.

Since our government plans to spend the $186 billion in just a single year, then it is obvious that it will be spending at the rate of more than $5,000 per second. When you consider that LBJ said this is a stringent budget, then it becomes apparent that we could spend even faster than this if we really tried.

Finally, we should consider the paltry sum of $186 billion in terms of area. A $1 bill measures 6.14 inches long and 2.18 inches wide, or, approximately, 16 square inches. If you wanted to cover one square mile with $1 bills, it would take a mere $150,000,000 to do it.

By taking our tiny budget and spreading it out in $1 bills, you could completely carpet only about 20 percent of the land area of the United States (including Alaska and Hawaii, of course). So, as you can see, our $88 billion budget is so small, it's hardly worth mentioning.

MICROSCOPE — The trouble with being a second-rate power is that big countries such as North Vietnam and North Korea keep picking on us.

The Allen-Scott Report

Cong attacks costly in dollars

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — The North Vietnamese-Viet Cong "war within a war" — the blitz attacks against South Vietnamese cities and American bases — has cost the U.S. a lot more than the Johnson Administration has so far revealed.

U.S. losses in military equipment and material — and the worst of the war — are now estimated to total more than $300 million in last week's lightning raids.

Several U.S. authorities believe the total damage will run as high as $500 million, since details are still filtering in to the Pentagon.

Latest count at this writing shows that more than 150 U.S. planes and helicopters were either completely destroyed or damaged beyond repair in the Communist attacks against 32 U.S. airfields.

That's more planes and helicopters than the U.S. lost to enemy gunfire over North and South Vietnam during the past three and one-half months. The value of the planes lost exceeds $200 million.

Damage to airfields, fuel and ammunition depots is estimated at more than $80 million. Other losses involve the destruction of South Vietnamese military camps, planes, radio and police stations — all either built or supplied by the U.S.

LATENT POWER — Most disturbing factor about the bitter attacks, according to a report of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is that it dramatically illustrates the capability of the North Vietnamese — Viet Cong forces to temporarily neutralize U.S. air power at a dozen American bases in South Vietnam at the same time.

With regimental or battalion attacks, two-thirds of all U.S. air bases in South Vietnam were assaulted and 50 per cent of these were put out of commission for from a few hours to several days.

At a lower level a dozen of the dirt-strip airbases in or near provincial capitals were not assaulted, but simply held under siege by a handful of snipers. It was impossible in most instances to use these fields during the three-day blitz.

Other airbases — major ones — such as Da Nang — were not assaulted by close-in combat troops but simply rocketed and mortared from long ranges. In several instances planes on these fields had to be flown to bases in Thailand to escape damage.

HANOI'S STRATEGY — Because of the huge amount of damage inflicted on U.S. aircraft by the North Vietnamese — Viet Cong raids, U.S. intelligence authorities in Saigon have warned General Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam, to expect a series of these attacks during the next 60 days.

Hanoi's strategy calls for the use of these blitz attacks to try to outflank on the ground America's air power.

South Vietnamese sources, but not Americans, are predicting the beginning soon of a "general uprising" with political demonstrations, economic strikes, and violent anti-Americanism country-wide led by Thich Tri Quang, the militant Buddhist, who gets his instructions from Hanoi.

As exclusively outlined in this column on January 5, the principal objective of Hanoi's massive terror campaign against Saigon and other major South Vietnamese cities is to topple President Nguyen Van Thieu's government.

The terror campaign is being closely linked with a world-wide propaganda drive to discredit President Thieu and his newly elected government. This diplomatic-military-propaganda offensive is similar to the one that led to the overthrow of the pro-American government of President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963.

THE HATCHET SQUAD — Ironically, two of the former Kennedy Administration officials who helped pull the rug out from under the late President Diem are wittingly or unwittingly doing the same to President Thieu.

These officials are Ambassador-at-Large Averell Harriman, one of President Johnson's Vietnam trouble shooters, and Roger Hillsman, former assistant secretary of state for the Far East.

The Harriman-Hillsman team has been encouraging Senator Edward Kennedy following his recent return from Vietnam, to make speeches attacking Thieu's government as "corrupt and ineffectual." These sweeping charges are very similar to those used to undermine the government of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Our emerging ally

TOKYO — There are several fascinating things in the wide-ranging partnership between Japan and the United States which should be better understood:

The unusually close personal relations between President Johnson and Prime Minister Sato, Tokyo's reluctant willingness to sign the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, and the tendency of Japanese leaders to identify themselves more with the West than with other Asian nations.

LBJ AND SATO — There is great personal rapport between Johnson and Sato. There can be no doubt that their personal affinity strengthens the alliance and helps resolve touchy problems.

This relationship began at the Holt (funeral in Australia and flowered during Sato's recent visit to Washington. They obviously have a political feel for each other's problems. One knowledgeable Japanese political writer here put it this way:

"Sato has become markedly self-confident since the Washington summit. This was evident in the manner in which he carried out the reshuffle of the cabinet and party leadership after returning from the U.S., and his statements, too, have become bolder than ever."

Johnson and Sato are out to help each other in every legitimate way. LBJ gave Sato what he most needed by enabling him to assure the Japanese voters that the timetable for the return of Okinawa to Japan would be set in two or three years. Sato gave Johnson what the President needed in strongly and explicitly endorsing U.S. policy in Vietnam in speeches he made in the U.S. and elsewhere.

The effect of these moves is that each is helping the other politically. Each faces reelection, Johnson this year and Sato probably next. These are proper actions which conform to the national interest, but they certainly give both a political plus.

Unrestricted codeine sales

IS IT safe to prop a baby's bottle so that the mother can be relieved and continue her chores?

This practice has come into vogue and has led to all kinds of ingenious devices for keeping the bottle in the baby's mouth. There probably is no physical danger. It is doubtful if the child can choke or have any breathing difficulty by this feeding method.

Mothers may believe that they are saving time, but actually their concern about the infant's welfare makes them keep a constant eye on how well the child is doing. The result is that the mother has no more free time than she would have if she were feeding the baby and giving it the emotional nourishment that probably is as important as the contents of the bottle.

An infant needs security and physical contact with the mother during feeding time. Even at the very earliest age, infants are aware that they are being held securely and that feeding time is a special period of body contact with those on whom they depend.

Pediatricians, or specialists in children's diseases, accept the fact that emotional growth and health go hand-in-hand with physical growth.

Dr. Doris A. Howell of Philadelphia summarized an infant's needs when she said, "Supremely appropriate milk can come from either a real or an artificial nipple, but cuddling and nurturing can only be supplied by a tender human."

Young growing infants are highly sensitive to the vibrations between them and their mother.

They must not be deprived of this special type of nourishment.

If codeine is a drug that addicts use why can it be bought "over the counter" in a cough medicine?

This most important question is now being carefully reviewed by legislators in many states in America. Many addicts have learned that they can actually buy four ounces of a cough medicine without a prescription. I have known such addicts who spend the morning buying themselves a daily supply by going from drugstore to drugstore.

Not only do they get the dangerous addictive drug, codeine, but they also get a fairly large quantity of alcohol.

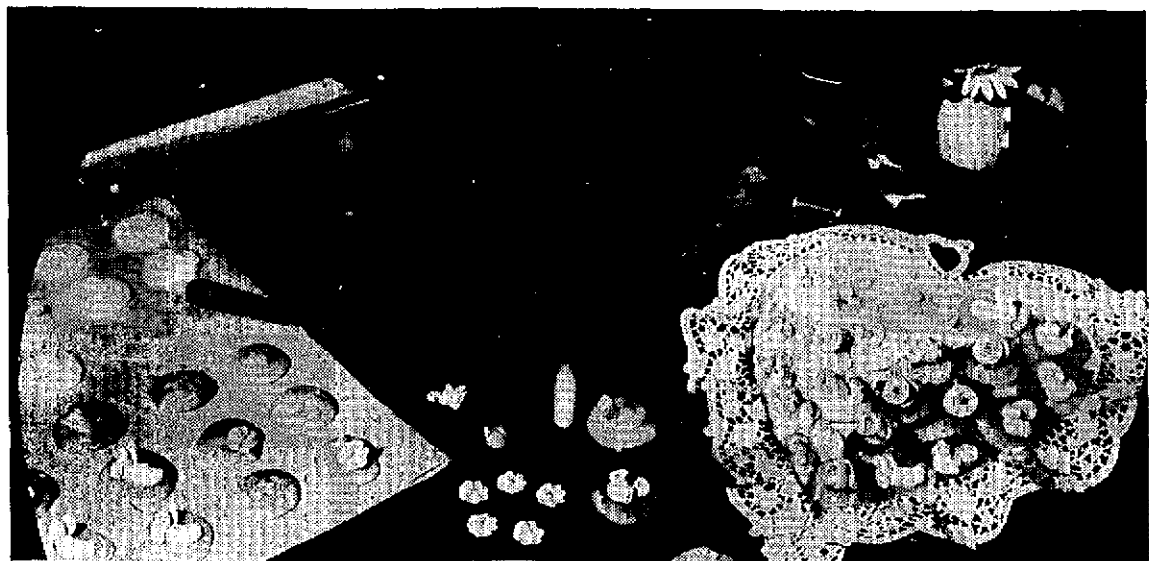

Physicians generally agree that cough medicines that contain codeine should only be sold by prescription. This, too, should be controlled when it is found that patients become so dependent upon it that they find all kinds of excuses for getting an added prescription.

This is only one of the dangers of over-the-counter drugs, even though many of them are safe and can be used for temporary conditions. Unfortunately, this form of self-medication may delay by many days consulting a physician and perhaps convert a simple problem into a complicated one.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH — There is only one way to stop smoking. It is the least expensive way and needs no drugs or gadgets. That way is to stop completely with determination.

Cook up some special Valentines

Stroudsburg — One of the favorite do-it-yourself times of the year is Valentine's Day. Cooking has always been more fun when you are out to please someone you love!

Little is known of the holiday except that St. Valentine was a martyred Roman priest. Yet, the holiday, which honors him as the patron saint of love, remains a favorite with lovers. Cleopatra greeted Marc Antony on that date in a room strewn 18 inches deep in rose petals, and the elaborate Valentine card that Napoleon gave Josephine is still on view at the Louvre.

But living in a super-age leaves us little time for such elaborations, and besides, rose petals are simply not that easy to come by! More appropriate today is cooking something special for someone special so I'll give you a few ideas ahead of time so that you'll be ready to surprise your love next Wednesday!

Let's start with candy. Mints are easy to make if you have a candy thermometer. You can pack these mints in a pretty box and I'll even give you a poem you can put with the box:

"For you, my sweet,
on Valentine's Day
I made these candies
bright and gay;
So if you'll say
that you'll be mine
I will say that
I'll be thine!"

Use a heavy saucepan to make the mint mixture.

Valentine Mints

2 cups granulated sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
Few drops peppermint flavoring
Assorted food tints

Cook sugar, water and corn syrup in a 2 quart saucepan over a medium heat, until the sugar dissolves completely. Let heat to thread stage (232 degrees) without stirring. Add cream of tartar and beat vigorously with a wire whisk or electric mixer on medium speed. Add flavoring to taste from teaspoon onto waxed paper forming patties. Decorate as desired. Store in a tightly covered container.

HINT: After mixture is removed from heat it will begin to harden. For best results keep saucepan in a pan with hot water, and work quickly.

If you have heart shaped pans, you can easily bake a heart shaped cake. If you don't, you can make a one layer heart shaped cake by baking batter in one round layer and 1 square pan (8 inch pans). When baked and cooled, cut the round layer in half and put each cut side against two adjacent sides of the square cake. This makes a heart and you can doctor with icing.

Valentine Heart Cake

2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
One and one-third cups sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup soft shortening
1/4 cup maraschino cherry juice (5 oz. bottle)
16 maraschino cherries, chopped
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup milk
4 egg whites (1/2 cup) unbeaten

Preheat oven to 350 degree. Grease and flour two 9x1 1/2" heart shaped pans or one 8" round and one 8" square pans. Sift dry ingredients. Add shortening and cherry juice. Beat 2 minutes. Add milk and unbeaten egg whites and beat another 2 minutes. Mix in chopped cherries and chopped nuts. Pour into pans and bake 30 to 35 minutes. Frost with:

Valentine Frosting

1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
1/4 cup light corn syrup
2 egg whites (1/2 cup)
1 teaspoon vanilla
Red food coloring
Mix in saucepan sugar, water, syrup. Cover, bring to rolling boil. Remove cover, cook to 242 degree or until syrup spins a 6 to 8" thread. Just before syrup is ready, beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold a point. Pour hot syrup very slowly in thin stream into egg whites. Beat until frosting holds peaks. Blend in vanilla and enough red food coloring to make a light pink.

If you have a heart cookie cutter, these crisp rich cookies will be nice for your Valentines. If not, decorate with the frosting and top with a little candy heart.

Maple Sugar Valentine Cookies

2 sticks (1 cup) butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon maple extract
2 cups sifted all purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream butter. Add sugar and cream again. Add egg, soft cream and maple extract. Gradually add flour which has been sifted with baking powder and salt. Chill well, at least 1 hour. Roll half of the dough to one-eighth thickness on a well floured board or pastry cloth. Keep remaining half of dough refrigerated. Cut with heart shaped cookie cutter, working quickly. Roll out remaining half and cut. Bake on a cookie sheet in a preheated 375 degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes.

To decorate, trim some of the cookies with pink tinted coconut around the edges of heart. Decorate some with frosting:

Heart Frosting

Bring 3 oz. pkg. cream cheese to room temperature. Cream together with 2 tablespoons sour cream. Blend 3 cups sifted confectioners sugar into cream mixture until smooth. Tint the frosting a delicate pink.
NOTE: Vanilla or other flavoring as almond or lemon extracts can be substituted for the maple extract if desired.

Womans Club board honors its only charter member

Stroudsburg — The Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs paid tribute to Mrs. Ernest H. Wyckoff, their only living charter member, at the board meeting held this week at the Stroud Community House.

Mrs. Henry Surrey presided at the meeting when Mrs. Harry Goldsmith was admitted as a new member.

Mrs. Harry Sutton and Mrs. Harold K. Meixell reported on the gifts to Laurel Manor, major welfare project of the club this year.

January winners in the bridge-a-rama were announced by Mrs. Clifford Heller: Mrs. Berne Cramer and Mrs. E. O. Headrick, tournament A; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schiebel, tournament B.

Plans were made for the annual Spring luncheon and card party to be held Wednesday, April 24 at 12:30. Reservations will be made with Mrs. Harvey Pullen.

The club will also be participating in the Spring Fashion Show by Wyckoff's, with tickets available from Mrs. David Katz. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the club projects.

The program for the February club meeting on Monday, Feb. 12, will be given by County Librarian Elizabeth Kane, who will give a book review. The opening ceremonies will be led by Mrs. Foster Minnich and Mrs. Pierce Harley. Mrs. Minnich, Mrs. Myrton Finney and Mrs. T. Manning Curtis are co-chairmen of the hospitality committee.

The program will begin at 2 with dessert being served at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Poorman heads Football Mothers Club
Stroudsburg — Mrs. Albert Poorman was elected president of the Stroudsburg Football Mothers Club. Other officers elected and installed at their recent meeting included:

Mrs. Edwin Fuhrer, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Jagers, secretary; and Mrs. Kay Straub, treasurer.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 27 at the high school cafeteria.

Sciota Rebekahs drape charter
Saylorsburg — The Sciota Rebekah Lodge No. 22 draped their charter in memory of Mrs. Iona Howar at their meeting this week in the firehall at Saylorsburg.

Plans were made to observe the birthday anniversary of the founder of Odd Fellowship, Schuyler Colfax, in March.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Eva Snyder was in charge of a game called "Now You Have It, Now You Don't," involving Groundhog Day and Leap Year.

Stage music theme for Study Club

Stroudsburg — "Music of the American Stage" will be the topic of a program to be presented by Numa Snyder at the Feb. 13 meeting of the Music Study Club of the Stroudsburgs. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Merlin Rutt, 624 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, at 7:45 p.m.

Snyder, teacher of choral music at Stroud Union High School, will present the history of music written for the American state beginning with the minstrel shows of the 1890s and including music of the Gay Nineties, operettas of Victor Herbert, and even present day music for television stage productions.

He will illustrate his talk with recordings with members trying to identify shows by their overtures. Song sheets will be provided and there will be informal singing of some of the great songs of our American stage.

The Hymn of the Month, "Rise Up, O Men of God," will be presented by Mrs. Keith Irwin of the Kirkridge staff.

Metropolitan Opera trip
On February 3 forty-two members and friends of the club attended a performance of "Carmen" by the Metropolitan Opera Company at Lincoln Center in New York City. Direct bus transportation to the Center was arranged by Mrs. Jack Manchester. This was the third annual trip to the Met by the club.

National Music Week
For the celebration of National Music Week, which is sponsored annually in May by the National Federation of Music Clubs, the local club is planning a sacred concert by the local youth members of the Junior and Juvenile Music Clubs and the Junior Choirs of a number of local churches.

Mrs. H. B. George is the chairman of the Music Week celebrations. The club welcomes guests to all its meetings. Anyone who is a music lover is urged to attend. Future programs include a preview of the Junior Music Festival entrants' performances; two - piano, eight hands performances, and Latin American music in song and dance.

Miss Carol Marie Lesoine (Rembrandt Studio)

Lesoine-Thatcher engagement

East Stroudsburg — Mr. and Mrs. William Irving Lesoine of East Stroudsburg R.D. 2 announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Carol Marie Lesoine to Richard P. Thatcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thatcher of 673 Belvidere Ave., Phillipsburg, N.J.

Miss Lesoine, a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, attended the University of Farmingdale, Farmingdale, L.I. She is employed by Weiss, The Florist of Easton.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Phillipsburg High School, is employed by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. at New Village.

A September wedding is planned.

Con-con theme for Hospital Aux. meeting

Stroudsburg — The Auxiliary of the General Hospital of Monroe County will meet Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 12:30 at the Stroud Community House. Dr. William McFadden, associate professor of social studies, East Stroudsburg State College, will speak on "Revising the State Constitution."

Morey PTA study of "Middle School"

Stroudsburg — With Middle Schools being seriously considered for Monroe County, the Morey Parent-Teachers Assn. will have a panel discussion on "The Middle School and How It Affects Your Child" at their meeting on Monday night at 8 in the all-purpose room of the school.

The Middle School concept calls for incorporating grades six through eight into an intermediate unit, separate from both the grammar school and high school. Advantages claimed for the program include the fact that children in these grades have a closeness in physical and psychological patterns, the economical advantages of common facilities, and the more gradual adjustment to the intermediate program.

Panel moderator will be Peter Grady, Pocono Record reporter. Members of the panel will include Roger Dunning, elementary supervisor; Russell Treible, Morey School principal; Mrs. Ruth Serfass, Ramsey School teacher; Woodrow Berger, Hamilton School principal, and Samuel Wells, Stroudsburg Area School chief administrator.

It is an open meeting with all interested persons invited.

Ann Landers

Weight adds age

Dear Ann Landers: When I married Lou seven years ago, he weighed 150 pounds. The last time he told me what he weighed was three months ago. He admitted to 205. Lou is still in his 20's but he looks like 40.

At breakfast he is already thinking about what he is going to have for lunch. After supper he sits and watches TV. Whenever a food commercial comes on, he has to have right then and there whatever they are advertising. A large market in our neighborhood stays open evenings and I have lost count of the times Lou has left the house to go out and buy something he saw advertised.

Lou will not go to a doctor for a checkup because the last time he went the doctor gave him the dickens for overeating. Please tell me how I can help this man. I am losing weight worrying about him.

FATSO'S WIFE
Dear Wife: A man who has gained 55 pounds in seven years is in serious trouble. It's not what he is eating that is causing the problem, but what's eating him.

Lou must go back to his physician and learn if there is an organic problem. If that possibility is ruled out, he should see a head doctor. If he refuses to help himself, stop nagging and make sure his life insurance premiums are paid on time.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a career girl, 27, and have lived in another state since I was 20. My mother confided that Dad (who is a physician) wants a divorce and she is willing to give it to him. Dad has asked for his freedom so he can marry the nurse who works in his office.

My parents never had a beautiful marriage but they managed to stay together for 30 years. My problem is as follows: I have set my wedding date for May. My future in-laws are very conservative people and they would be horrified by this. Do I have the right to ask my parents to hold off on the divorce until after my wedding?

DISTRAUGHT

Dear Dis: You certainly do. If your parents stood each other for 30 years they can stand each other for another three months.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, answers some of the most frequently asked questions about weddings. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Your Horoscope

By Francis Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — An auspicious day! You should have smooth going. Why not try something new? The old rut can become mighty uncomfortable.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — There's more than one way to get yourself going, and if your start doesn't seem to work, try again, and again. This is competitive time, should be really enjoyed.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Review first, to be sure you are on the right ground, then promote your interests with all your might — for ample reward soon. Don't fret at minor delays.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Go after the big gains but do not expect to have things your way all along the line. Better be prepared for some opposition, then you can meet it more easily.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Observe warnings; some can forestall useless retreating of steps, prevent antagonism, too. Your innate stick-to-itiveness will help you hurdle all obstacles.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) Solutions won't come readily in certain matters, but don't become pessimistic. It takes time for some situations to jell, so WAIT!

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — How well you use your talents and how well you determine your routine and follow its important steps will decide whether you are a winner or a tag-along. Not much planetary help.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — A Strong Mars interests now, so you will be expected to better your efforts with such fine assistance. Work diligently for top results.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — You should have new ambition and incentive now. An interesting business transaction could prove profitable. Personal relationships are under fine influences.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — There may be something about your job that causes worry or anxiety. Try not to yield to such stresses. Take obstacles in stride and just do the best you can.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Especially favored now: Advertising, promotion, writing. A splendid day to proceed along cherished lines. Do not overtax yourself, however.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — A special chance to display your ingenuity; take the invitation to stride forward with new vigor. Don't let little annoyances provoke.

YOU BORN TODAY: You can keep pace with the mightiest when doing your best; can drag your feet when you lose interest.

NEW YORK — Maurice Chevalier pushing 80 opined he's still at the top and says he'll know when it's time to stop; so the oldest charmboy who "retired" last year is starting another Farewell Tour.

The "Shirley Parker" registered at the Sherry-Netherland really is — on screen name Shirley MacLaine; uses hubby Steve Parker's surname as her N.Y. cover. Also spied hobbling through the Sherry-lobby: Petula Clark, who cracked an ankle skiing.

We said we knew what happened to Shirley Temple but whatever happened to Virginia Weidner and we were answered by our friend Lola Finkelstein; Virginia married Lola's cousin Lionel Krisel whose father was an original toman in the Pickford-Chaplin-Fairbanks United Artists group; they've been married 20 years, have three sons, live "in an exciting house in Pacific Palisades;" Virginia's a practicing Christian Scientist, studies music, Chinese and Spanish and Lola says "You'd like her" but we always did.

former assistant Cornell coach) John O'Neill read Bob Daley's "Only a Game" pro-football novel (a dandy, authentic and fascinating) and laughed when he found only one "inaccuracy;" the author wrote progridsters don sweat socks first and then pull on the long-socks; not so, John notes, long socks go on first; and that is quite a triumphant analysis for a sports book by a non-player (the Bob Daley was publicity man for the N.Y. Giants six years).

Here we go again: Japan's arms-budget this year is $7 billion. Brigitte Bardot told vocal coach Carlo Menotti she's seriously intent on a singing career and Carlo assured she has the proper breathing equipment. Mike Nichols is up for an Oscar and a Tony (for "The Graduate" film and the "Little Foxes" stage-revival). Restaurant tariffs are zooming which explains maybe the proliferation of midtown mobile hotdog wagons; we've dined graciously at the one on Madison and 52nd; nice polite gent, too.

Sorry, young girls: Paul Newman's gone all gray. J. Edgar Hoover quote: "In 1966 more citizens were

The Beatles' latest moved laid the worst critical egg of the cinema year but netted a six-figure take-home on British TV; elsewhere unwary theatre audiences will pay the bomb another million. Big new rage in the Times Square novelty-shops: Orphan Annie Wigs — for males.

"Man of La Mancha" (in its 3rd year) is the top show-album in Billboard — 30 places ahead of "Fiddler" — Elizabeth Harris sent estranged husband actor Richard Harris (in Mexico making "Nobody Loves a Drunken Indian") a totem pole inscribed "Nobody Loves a Drunken Irishman" — Oh, we don't know 'bout that.

Irishman Cecil Day-Lewis, Britain's new poet laureate, gets $237.60 a year for his patriotic poems but lots more writing whodunits as Nicholas Blake. Denmark's blithe export Victor Borge describes his meeting with LBJ who "Suddenly lifted me up by my ears and pronounced me a Great Dane." — which Victor is.

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Diamonds. North leads the queen of hearts and continues with the jack. South playing the six and then the four. How would you play the hand?

1. You have no sure way of making the contract, but there is a clear-cut percentage play you should adopt.

There are two main lines of play to choose from. One is to win the heart, enter dummy with a diamond, and try a spade finesse. If it wins, you reenter dummy with a diamond and repeat the finesse.

This brings you to nine tricks with a chance of making an overtrick or two. But, considering that for practical purposes South must have the king of spades for you to succeed, you have very little more than a 50 per cent chance of making the contract.

The other method of play is to win the heart, return a diamond, and play low from dummy. If the diamonds are divided 3-2 (a 68 per cent chance) you make at least four notrump. Obviously, this method of play will win more often in the long run than the spade finesse, and is therefore the preferred line of play.

2. The problem is to avoid a spade loser. The best way of playing the hand is to try for a dummy reversal. Ruff the heart high and cash the J-9 of diamonds.

If both opponents follow suit, ruff the eight of hearts (let's assume the ace does not fall), reenter dummy with a club, and ruff the king of hearts. Now play a club to the queen, cash the queen of diamonds, discarding the five of spades, and the rest of the tricks are yours.

You may learn, after cashing the J-9 of diamonds, that the trumps are divided 4-1, in which case you will be forced to abandon the dummy reversal form of play. Now your only chance is to attempt to cash four rounds of clubs and discard two spades from dummy. If all goes well, this method of play will also succeed.

SECOND FLOOR

FLOOR PLANS: A feature prized by housewives — a multiplicity of closets — is much in evidence in the simple but practical floor plans of this two-story house. Complete rectangular design helps to cut construction costs.

FAMILY ROOM: One wall of the family room, with windows facing the front of the house, is a king-sized fireplace, with built-in bookshelves and cabinets on either side.

WINGED FARMHOUSE: In the style of farmhouses of yesteryear, the basic portion of this three-bedroom, two-story house has low wings on either side, the right wing enveloping a two-car garage with storage space at the rear.

Demand for two-story homes continues

Last year's resurgent demand for two-story homes has continued into the new year and shows no sign of abating.

As suitable building land grows more expensive, it becomes more and more important to compress as much living area as possible into lots of moderate size. This can be done best by the utilization of two-story designs.

Also, it is cheaper to build upward, once the foundation is in, than to build outward.

In this particular two-story house, reminiscent of the old farmhouse style, with the upper floor flanked by low wings on each side, there is an additional economy factor.

Architect Herbert C. Struppman has cut costs by placing everything within rectangles, eliminating any exterior breaks that might add to construction expenditures. The house nevertheless has an attractive appearance, with the look of comfort so typical of this type.

In an interesting arrangement, the living room and the family room both are at the front of the house. The living room is at the left of the center hall, the family room at the right. The latter has a fireplace flanked by built-in bookshelves.

Directly ahead of the center hall, accessible from the front door without going through either the living room or the family room, is the kitchen, which also can be reached from a rear entrance. On one side of the kitchen is the dining room. On the other is a breakfast room. This layout is ideal for easy serving on either a formal or an informal basis.

Adding to the practicality for the housewife is the location of the service area directly to the right of the kitchen and breakfast room. It includes a laundry, mud hall, lavatory and linen closet.

One can go directly from there to the backyard or to the two-car garage, which has a closet, a garden storage space and room for a workbench. Not so incidentally, there are a number of additional closets, including one in the kitchen, one in the breakfast room, one in the family room and, of course, one in the hall near the front entry.

From the center hall, you can go up to the three bedrooms or down to the basement, a layout that preserves both the formal and informal areas from unnecessary traffic.

Z-27 STATISTICS

Design Z-27 has a living room, family room, center hall, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room, laundry and lavatory on the first floor, with 1196 square feet of living area. There are three bedrooms and two baths on the second floor, totaling 739 square feet. There is a two-car garage with space for a work bench, a closet and a garden storage area which opens from the outside. Over-all dimensions, including the garage and the two-foot overhang of the second floor, are 65 feet 4 inches by 31 feet 8 inches.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: I recently replaced a broken window pane. When I gave the hardware dealer the measurements for the new pane, he made it a smaller size. I put in place, but had a difficult time positioning it so it wouldn't be too loose. Did he make it smaller deliberately or was he just careless?

ANSWER: The dealer properly deducted a fraction from your measurements. The recommended deduction is one sixteenth of an inch from both the length and width. This allows for shrinkage of the sash.

If the pane fitted tightly to begin with, a later shrinkage might crack the glass. In this have deducted a bit too much.

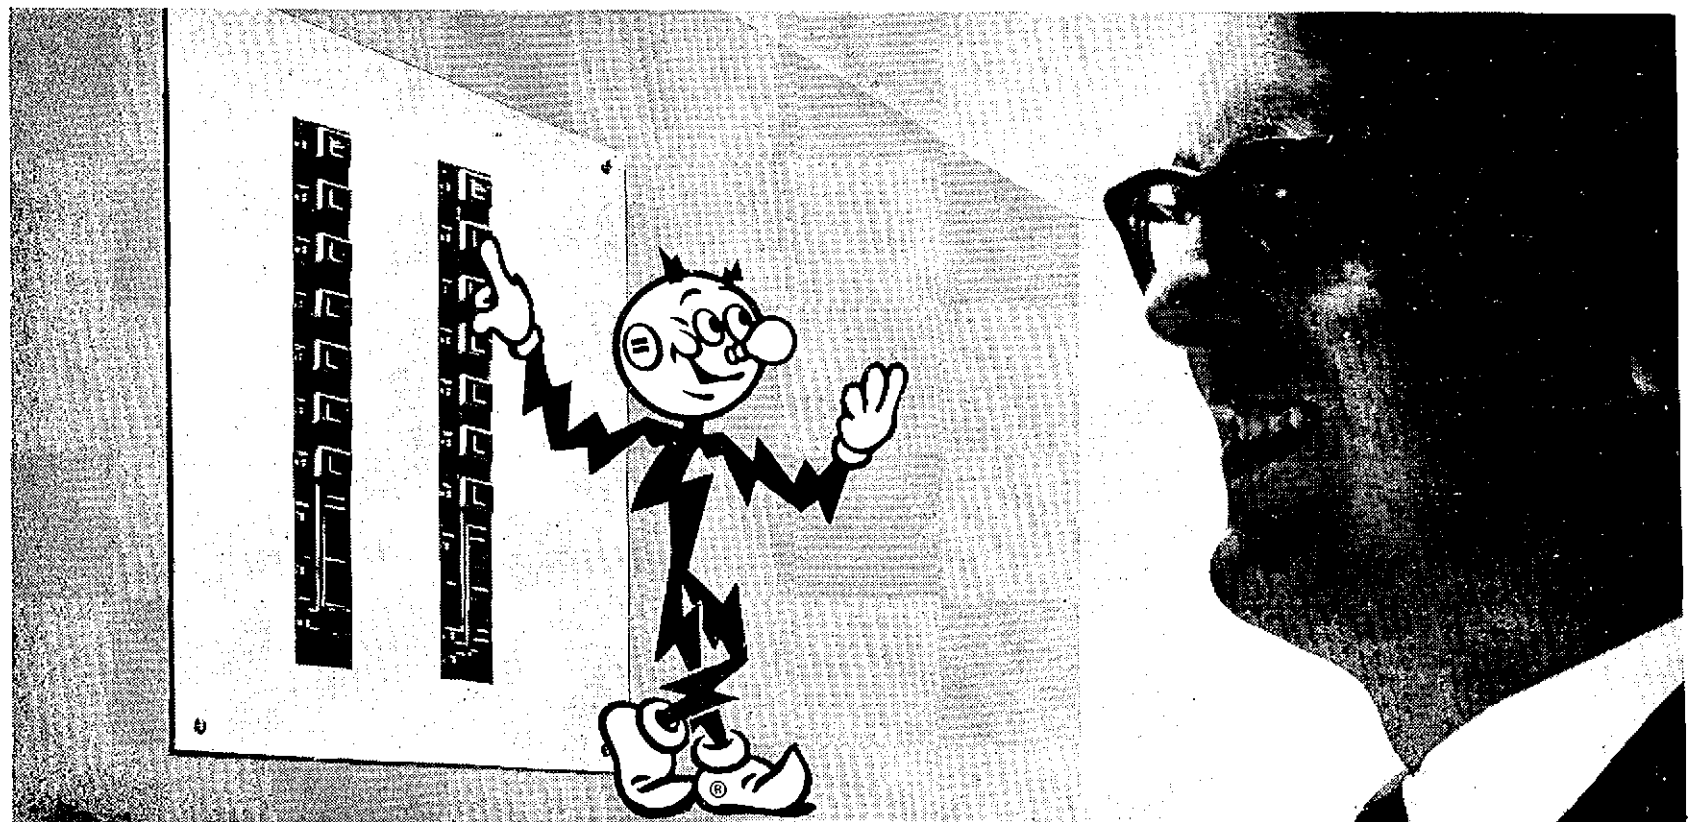

QUESTION: I was told that, if I wanted a varnish that would be exceptionally resistant to water and other stains, I should buy a "bar" varnish. My local hardware dealer says he never heard of it? Is there such a thing?

ANSWER: Yes. However, many hardware stores do not carry it because it is more expensive than regular varnish and there isn't as much call for it.

Here's the reason Gold Medallion Homes will never be "old-fashioned"!

Today, about half of the new homeowners in this area insist on flameless electric heat. By that decision, they help to insure their homes against obsolescence. You see, flameless electric heat is a big step toward Gold Medallion living—and a Gold Medallion Home will keep its value in the years ahead. In a Gold Medallion

Home, an electric service panel "masterminds" not only the heating—but the lighting and all the appliances the family uses. Result—comfort, convenience and pleasant living for today and tomorrow. If you're buying a new home, make sure it's designed for the future—make sure it has the Gold Medallion!

Total Electric Living is a clean break with the past!

Charred timbers and piles of ashes are the only remnants of the Tabano's Bay cocktail lounge which was destroyed by fire Thursday night. The fire also

Skyline's fire loss $50,000 Cinder truck purchased by Barrett's supervisors

MOUNT POCONO — Fire losses at Skyline Inn's Tabano Bay cocktail lounge are estimated at $50,000 and the cause remains undetermined.

Ernest Bisbing, Mount Pocono fire chief, said he and State Fire Marshal Stanley Komosinsky are continuing the investigation to determine the cause of the fire.

The lounge is owned by Pocono Farms Inc. and was opened for business several weeks ago. It was named after Tabano Bay, a quarter horse that won nearly every competition it entered. During the opening of the lounge, the horse was on the premises.

Firemen speculate that the fire began in the lounge and then spread to the dormitory. They are still wondering what caused the long delay in turning in the alarm after the fire was discovered.

BUCK HILL FALLS — A used cinder truck, purchased Thursday night by the Barrett Township supervisors for $35 will be used for the remainder of the winter by the township to avoid a major purchase before the end of the fiscal year. The truck was owned by Stanley Nauman of Mountainhome.

Stanley Bender, roadmaster, said the truck ought to get through the next couple of winter storms and that the purchase would prevent an outlay of money for the purchase of a new cinder truck to replace the township's vehicle which is beyond repair.

A folder of correspondence with the Pennsylvania Department of Highways was summarized by Lloyd LaBar, secretary treasurer, with the information that the change-over from a hanging traffic light in Canadensis must be changed to meet state specifications by the end of 1968.

Previously supervisors had been told that if the state department's specifications were not met, the necessary changes would be made and the township charged for the changes.

Bills totaling $3,901.98 were approved for payment. This sum includes $2,055 for loads of cinders and salt for winter road care.

James R. Marsh, township solicitor was directed to draw up an ordinance which will allow the township to share in the one per cent realty tax which is currently being paid in its entirety to the school district. By law, the township may share the sum to the total of one-half of one per cent.

The board discussed the necessary legal procedures establishing a building inspector who would be responsible for approving the placement of sewerage systems in new construction, regardless of the lot size.

Tax ordinance Supervisors set the fee for the inspections, which may involve as many as three visits by the inspector to the site, at $30. This amount is paid to the supervisors and the inspector is hired by the board. He is not paid the amount of the fee.

In regard to this the board was requested by James LaCoe, Monroe County Public Health official to make any information so gathered available to his office to enable the state body to work with local officials. Supervisors agreed that this would be done.

Further discussion was held on the necessity of a sewerage feasibility report which must be submitted by the board under Act 597. This report gives an indication of the necessity if any and the financial situation in the township. The matter was given to the Municipal Authority for study.

George Huguenin was named by the board to fill the unexpired term of Marshall Reese who recently resigned his position on the Planning Commission. The term will expire at the end of this year. Other board members are, Warren Springer, whose term expires in 1971; Chester Sessu, 1972; Elmer Daniels, 1969 and Lewis Lewis, 1970.

Members of the Municipal Authority and their terms are Richard Price, 1971; Blaine Siglin, 1972; Wayne Price, 1968; William Pickett, 1969 and LeRoy Shoemith, 1970.

At the completion of the meeting, William Scheneman, representing the Mid-Atlantic Music and Arts Center which is to be situated at Onawa Lodge, gave a resume of the group's plans for this summer's season which will begin June 23 and run through August 4.

Scheneman pointed out the desirability of the young people involved in the center in a conversation following the meeting. The students, averaging in age at 17 and 18 will be students in good standing, planning to pursue a musical career and working with master musicians during the summer workshop sessions. He also pointed out that the concerts which are planned for Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons, will present well-known names in the music world, such as the Curtis String Quartet and Jan Pierce, among others.

The 11 spectators at the meeting were interested in the plans by the center and several questions were asked following the impromptu presentation by Scheneman.

Filing were: Karen L. Larsen, Stroudsburg, RD 1, for Southern Stroud Township; Philip D. Shaller, Mountainhome, for Barrett Township; Arvilla Bisbing, Mt. Pocono; Lydia Christenson, Canadensis, for Barrett Township; Garnet L. Rumsey, Stroudsburg's First Ward; Mary Engelhardt, East Stroudsburg's First Ward, and Austin F. PSEA units to study salary action in Harrisburg today

STROUDSBURG — Representatives of the four Pennsylvania State Education Assn. (PSEA) chapters in Monroe County will attend a statewide association meeting in Harrisburg today to take positive action on increasing teachers' salaries.

The PSEA has long sought to increase the state's minimum teacher salary from $4,500 to $6,000.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, in his budget message Wednesday, pledged to increase the minimum to $6,000.

Shafer proposed to change the current accounting and funding methods to release a total of $25 million.

"This money we propose to apply to the first step in raising the salaries of our Pennsylvania teachers, including the goal of $8,000 minimum. This is a pledge which I will do everything within my power to keep and I know I will have bi-partisan support in this matter," the governor said.

The presidents of the PSEA chapters in Monroe County's four school districts, didn't seem overly elated over Shafer's proposal.

The presidents from the PSEA at Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Pleasant Valley and Pocono Mountains Schools, wondered why Shafer hadn't mentioned this before.

"I'm pleased to know the governor is doing something about the salaries for the teachers," Roger Arnold, PSEA president at Pleasant Valley, said.

"I think this is one of the first real commitments he's made publicly. It's a step in the right direction," Arnold said.

Douglas Schoonover, president at East Stroudsburg, said the PSEA submitted suggestions of raising the needed revenue for the salary increase when the legislature was first asked to raise the minimum.

Schoonover said that he understands the legislature turned deaf ears on some of the proposals.

Primarily, he said, the state's tax bill impasse had delayed action on the PSEA salary bill.

"Both the legislators and the governor knew of this situation," he said. "I'm surprised, after a full year of being unable to do something, that the governor can now feel that this will be taken care of at the present time."

"As far as I'm concerned, this bill must be dated back to the original bill and I don't think the teachers will be satisfied unless it is dated back to 1967," he said. Other representatives felt that the salary bill should be made retroactive to last fall.

"I think he's making a step in the right direction," Robert Wolbert, PSEA president at Stroudsburg High School said. "I think it's overdue. I'm very happy that he has shown us that he hasn't forgotten us completely."

Wolbert questioned Shafer's delayed action, however.

"In December, Stanley Stroup, majority leader of the Senate, told us that once the tax impasse was broken the legislature would move on to our salary proposal," said Theodore Jarrett of Pocono Mountains.

"But when the tax impasse was broken early in January, the Senate adjourned and left us out in the cold again. Our people feel we have to take some positive form of action, but at this time we do not believe that the strike is an effective weapon," he said.

Delegates to the state association today are expected to vote on nine proposals in an attempt to force the legislature to take action on the minimum salary increase.

Teachers in the four Monroe County school districts, voted to abide by the ruling of the state association.

The association is expected to vote on the following alternatives to force the wage increase:

One - Take no action.

Two - Public censure or a vote of no confidence in the legislature, administration or leadership of both parties.

Three - Personal contact campaign to gain legislators' support of the salary bill.

Four - A march on Harrisburg.

Five - Political action.

Six - State-wide professional seminar. This would mean leaving school for a day or days, but the absence would be made up later.

Seven - Mass resignations.

Eight - State-wide sanctions such as censure through public notice or notifying state education department officials of unsatisfactory working conditions.

Nine - Withholding services.

Area LWV distributing 4,500 reference guides

STROUDSBURG — More than 4,500 legislative reference guides, published by the League of Women Voters of the Stroudsburgs, are being distributed throughout Monroe County.

The legislative reference guide actually is a pink slip of paper 11 inches long which lists all Monroe County's legislative representatives.

These representatives include the mayors and councilmen of East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg Boroughs, County Commissioners, State Representatives, State Senators, U. S. Senators and the Governor.

The guide also lists the 1968 election reference guide, how to register and how to become an eligible voter.

The guides are being presented to each school student from grades seven to 12.

The schools and the number of guides received are:

Stroudsburg, 1,600; East Stroudsburg, 1,000; Pocono Mountains, 1,100; Notre Dame, 100; Pocono Catholic, 265; Pleasant Valley, 500, and Seventy Day Adventist, 12.

The Monroe County Public Library will receive 25 and 100 to the Monroe County registrar's office.

The League has also mailed 13 letters to persons who were sworn U. S. citizens during the May, 1967, and December, 1967, court terms.

The League of Women Voters annually prints 5,000 of the reference guides.

More funds to be sought for property

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The National Wildlife Federation this week urged congress to increase appropriations in the Land and Water Conservation Fund to permit acquisition of land for proposed national recreation areas and parks.

Appropriations from the fund will also finance the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area (DWG NRA) land acquisition.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall on Monday also requested Congress to provide additional monies in the fund "to put out the fires of speculation."

The special fund has been in existence for three years, but has never received any appropriations from congress.

Intent of fund Louis S. Clapper, chief of the Federation's Conservation Congress to re-consider the original intent of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act while testifying before the Interior and Insular Affairs Committees of both the House and Senate.

"This fund," Clapper said, "was never intended to be the only source of financing all federal acquisitions of properties for recreational purposes, as well as the State programs."

Clapper pointed out that, under present policy, the "full-funding" concept now constitutes placing the fund in a "box" which has become so restrictive "that some people say there is no need to authorize new areas because some of those already established are not funded."

"Everyone is aware, however, of the continuing need to acquire areas before they are lost or before prices escalate out of sight," Clapper said.

During Friday's meeting it was decided to delete the following from the study plans. The Surplus Food Administration, which will be phased out for implementation of the newly approved Food Stamp plan, the County Extension Service and the County Agent.

Also deleted were the county engineer, the Monroe County Board of Assistance, and the local chapter of the Pennsylvania State Health Center, with offices at 519 Sarah St.

The Monroe County Redevelopment Authority in East Stroudsburg will be further studied before a decision is reached on its inclusion in the study, but indications are the authority will be included in the plan.

It was announced a "Phase One" progress report will be completed and released in about two weeks.

The overall purpose of the study, according to Tretheway, is to determine the adequacy of existing county space conditions and evaluate these conditions as they relate to projected governmental functions.

Post office deals blow to Cupid

STROUDSBURG — Postal rates for all Valentines is six cents, Postmaster Fred Rhodes said Friday.

First class postage rate will provide jet flight service to all Valentines sent to servicemen in Vietnam and other overseas locations. It will also provide air lift treatment for most domestic addresses more than 250 miles.

Legislation, which went into effect Jan. 7, eliminated the four cent rate for all greeting cards.

Laurel Diner continues operations

TANNERSVILLE — The Laurel Diner on Route 511 in Tannersville which was ordered closed by the State Health Department by Friday morning, continued its business operations Friday night.

Grover Hay, owner of the diner since 1961, said Friday afternoon that representatives from the State Health Department office in Stroudsburg were expected at 9 a.m. to revoke the license.

The three health department officials from the local office, however, were in Kingston throughout the day and are not expected in Stroudsburg until Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the Laurel Diner will continue operating.

Hay said that he had contacted Rep. Russell Eichenback. His attorney, Walter Olenick, had also contacted local Health Department officials.

Hay previously said that he was not so much criticizing the Health Department's inspection of his premises, but had charged unfair practice by the department. He said health officials should inspect other establishments.

Court set for Monday

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County jury trials will begin in courtroom number two Monday at 9 a.m. according to the court calendar.

Five not guilty pleas entered following grand jury action Thursday are set to begin during the February term.

Court will open as scheduled although a number of row offices will be closed in observance of Lincoln's Birthday Monday.

Powell named election judge

STROUDSBURG — David W. Powell, East Stroudsburg, has been approved as judge of elections in the First Ward by Judge Arlington W. Williams in Monroe County Court.

Williams signed the petition Thursday.

Nazareth halts home win streak of Cavaliers, 71-55

EAST STROUDSBURG — Nazareth High showed why its unbeaten in Lehigh-Northampton League competition Friday night with a 71-55 victory over East Stroudsburg. The win kept the Eagles a half-game in front of Bangor for top honors in the Northern Division's second half race. The defeat was only the second in eight home games for the Cavs—they are 1-8 on the road. The other loss was in double overtime to Southern Lehigh. The final outcome was decided in the first 16 minutes as the Eagles held John Hood, who has been playing the past month with a slipped disc and a pinched nerve in his back, scoreless. Hood also picked up his third personal in the final minute of the half. Eastburg was unable to stop

Terry Stewart and Al Decker in the first half as the two combined for 31 of Nazareth's 43 points. Nazareth also controlled the boards (24-12). Nazareth moved out to a 7-0 lead before the Cavs got on the board on four quick points by sophomore Tom Kishpaugh. The Eagles then came back with six of their own and opened a 13-4 lead with 3:59 left in the first period.

Trailing 23-11, Matt Hood reeled off four quick points to close the gap to 23-15. But a Decker field goal gave Nazareth a 25-15 first period lead.

Several times in the second period the Cavaliers closed the gap down to eight and had a chance to make it closer but missed the shot or made a bad pass.

The half ended with the Eagles of coach Barry Boyer in front 43-30.

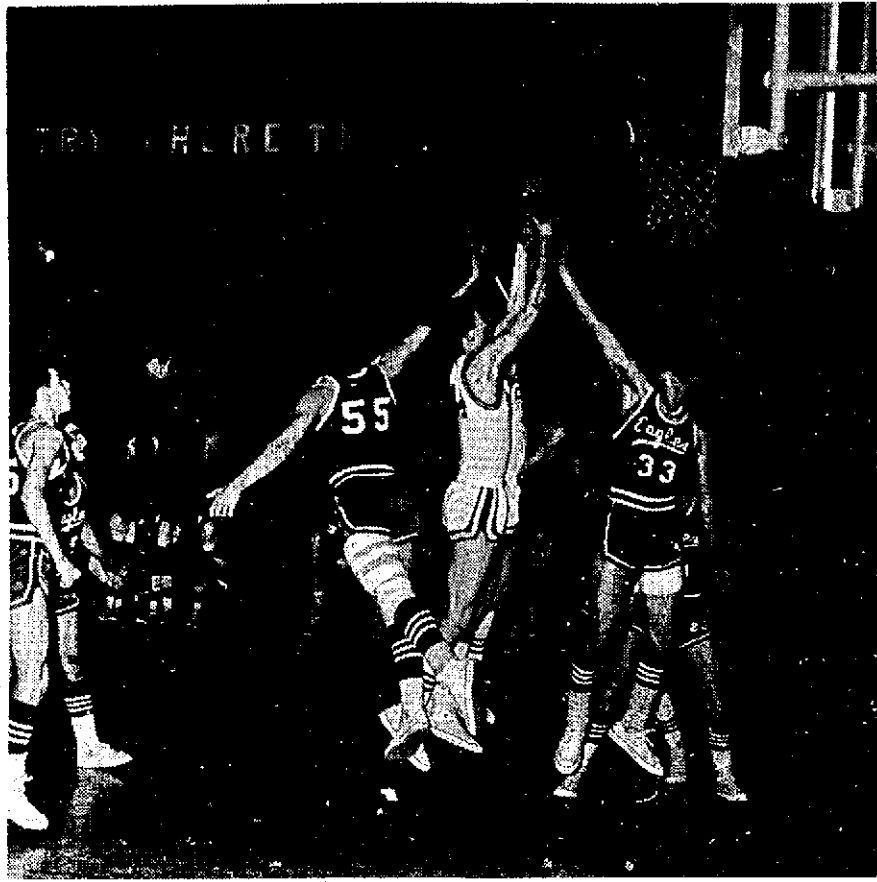

At one time in the third period Nazareth had a 20-point lead, 56-36 with 2:00 left. The closest the Cavs got was 64-52 with 3:55 remaining in the game.

Stewart finished with 27 points to pace all scorers. Decker added 18 and Glen Wolfel, 10. Joe Garvia and Tom Kishpaugh led the losers with 14 and 13 points in that order. John Hood finished with only eight points, all from the floor. Nazareth also captured the junior varsity contest, 71-55, despite a 23-point performance by Nick Ulio in the second half.

Pocono Mountain overcomes Pleasant Valley stall, 65-34

Pocono Mountain overcame a Pleasant Valley freeze Friday night to post an easy 65-34 victory over the winless Bears in the Lehigh-Northampton League's Southern Division.

But the bad news as far as Cardinal fans was concerned came out of Salisbury where the Falcons defeated Southern Lehigh, 65-58 and virtually wrapped up the second half championship. Pocono Mountain would have needed a win by Southern Lehigh and then a win over the Spartans to gain a tie for second half honors.

New 14-5 for the season and an almost sure winner of the first Dr. Frank Maguire Memorial Trophy, the Cards led 14-11 after eight minutes.

Pleasant Valley then went into a deep freeze in the second period as only seven points were scored, six by the Cardinals. There was only one field goal in the period.

The Bears continued to play possession ball in the third period as the Cards managed only 12 points as compared to 7 for the host five.

Pleasant Valley then attempted to run with the visitors in the final period and Pocono Mountain exploded for 33 points. Al Vican had all of his 10 points in the period.

John Gantzhorn, who made six of eight shots from the floor, led the Cards with 17. Gary Kirkwood added 13 and Vican, 10. Paul Freeman and Nyles Frantz had 13 and 11 in that order for the losers.

The Pocono Mountain junior varsity extended its win streak to 14 in the opener, 63-36. Now 16-3 overall the Cards were led by Don Cramer with 14 points and 12 rebounds.

Bangor keeps pace with Nazareth, 58-46

BANGOR — Bangor High kept pace with Nazareth in the Lehigh-Northampton League's Northern Division Friday night with a 58-46 victory over Pen Argyl.

The Blue Eagles are 4-0 in the second half while the Slaters are 3-0. The Knights, after winning their first two games of the half are now 2-0. Bangor broke open the game early with its tight defense as it limited the Knights to only 14 points in the first 16 minutes. Three players were in double figures for the Slaters with Frank Scagliola showing the way with 19. Dave Bushkirk added 18 and John Swope 11, before fouling out. Bangor also led Brad Farino on fouls.

Bob Parsons tallied 17 for Pen Argyl before committing his fifth foul. Bob Kaufman added 14 and John Bath 10. Pen Argyl also lost John Parsons via the foul route.

Bangor made it a clean sweep with a 58-47 victory in the junior varsity contest.

ROSETO — Marymount outscored Pius X 15-5 in the second period Friday night and then held on to post a 44-41 victory in the second half opener in the Catholic League's Southern Division.

Except for the second period the Royals of coach Paul Farnan out played and out hustled the visitors. Pius (6-11) led 0-6 after the first period and outscored Marymount, 28-23 in the second half.

Wyarrich led the winners with 14 points. Don Diorio, Dave Sabatine and Al Saveri each netted nine points for the Royals.

Marymount made it a clean sweep with a 28-26 decision in the junior varsity contest.

U. S. six pounded by Russia, 10-2

U.S. wins 3 medals in speed skating

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy, France's superman on skis, triggered his drive toward an Olympic triple by winning the men's downhill Friday after three girls brought the United States an unprecedented three medals in a speed skating race.

There were no honors, however, for the winless U.S. hockey team, which suffered its third straight defeat, this one a 10-2 drubbing by the power-laden Russians.

At the same time, there were more trips to the hospital for members of the American Olympic squad as two skiers, Jim Barrows and Jere Elliott, were injured in falls in the downhill.

Gaining the Games' first medals for the U.S. were Dianne Holm of Northbrook, Ill., Mary Meyers of St. Paul, Minn., and Jenny Fish of Strongsville, Ohio, all of whom tied for second in the women's 500-meter speed skating event.

Each ripped across the finish line in 48.3 seconds, only two-tenths of a second behind gold medalist Ludmila Tlova of Russia, and received a silver medal. No bronze was awarded.

It was the highest placing attained by American women speed skaters in Olympic racing.

Killy's plans call for him to win all three men's Alpine skiing races—the downhill and the two slaloms—and thereby equal the fantastic feat pulled off by Austria's Toni Sailer in 1966.

The 24-year-old French customs official, who is to French skiing what Mickey Mantle is to American baseball, swept down the 2,890-meter course at nearby Chamrousse in 1 minute, 59.85 seconds, barely faster than the 1:59.93 posted by teammate Guy Perillat.

Jean Daniel Daetwyler of Switzerland was third in 2:00.32 while Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., testing his weakened left ankle, finished 18th in 2:03.40 and Dennis McCoy of Bishop, Calif., was 21st in 2:04.82.

The two runs of the giant slalom are scheduled for Sunday and Monday while the special slalom is on next Wednesday's schedule.

Neither Barrows nor Elliott, both from Steamboat Springs, Colo., got very far in the race. Barrows suffered a dislocated right hip and will be hospitalized for several days.

Elliott suffered contusions of his right shoulder and other minor injuries.

Barrows was entered only in the downhill, but Elliott had been a possible starter for the giant slalom.

A large American contingent will be on hand Saturday when Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., goes through the free skating part of the figure skating event.

She has a 77-point lead over Gabriele Seyfert of East Germany, and there is virtually no way she can lose the gold medal.

The hockey skaters are a different story. The Americans tried playing a rough, aggressive game against the defending champions, but the unbeaten

Buckhorns win 2nd in second half

PAUPACK — Wallenpaupack upped its record in the second half race in the Wayne County League to 2-0 Friday night with a 70-61 victory over Damascus.

The Buckhorns, winners of the first half after finishing in a three-way tie, were never in serious trouble as they led 18-10 after eight minutes, 38-25 at intermission and 58-43 before turning the action over to the reserves.

Captain Craig Beesacker led a trio of Paupack players in twin figures with 20 points. Rich Anke added 15 and Pete Neil netted 10. Decker had 20 to lead Damascus, who outscored the host five 23-12 in the final period.

Damascus salvaged a split for the night with a 38-31 victory in the junior varsity action.

Warriors host strong West Chester

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg State wrestling team attempts to get back in the win column Saturday afternoon when it takes on the "best West Chester College squad in recent years".

Unbeaten in dual meet competition the Rams appear to "be strong where the Warriors are". Clyde Witman said Thursday night "we've got to get a pin from Ned Rushong at 130, and take two of the four bouts in the middle weights".

In going over the Ram lineup Witman had this to say: "The first boys, Crews and Caroso are only a pace behind Melchior and Foley of Lock Haven. At 137, Moyer beat this year's Wilkes Open champion from Temple in the dual meet."

"At 145, DeMarco is also unbeaten and lost via a referee's decision to our own Jerry McDonald. In the Coast Guard, Weinberg, at 152, was a runner-up at Wilkes; Biles, at 160, has whipped Elder twice; at 177-Griffing is no slouch and Lyons at 191, is tough."

The 160 and 167 pound classes continue to be a problem for Witman. Witman still doesn't know who'll go at 160 while Chris Greening, whose been looking very good in practice, may go at 167.

A freshman match at 2 p.m. gets the afternoon program underway. The varsity match is set for 4.

LIU retains top spot in small poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cowboys of McNeese State College have broken into the Top Ten in the Associated Press' weekly small college basketball poll, still topped by unbeaten Long Island University.

McNeese, of Lake Charles, La., unranked previously, beat Nicholls State 75-67 and North Louisiana 99-93 last week to boost its record to 10-2.

This enabled the Cowboys to move into ninth place as Indiana State, sixth the week before, lost two games for a 13-7 record and was dropped out of the elite list.

Long Island U. beat Southampton, Quantico Marines and American U. for a 14-0 record that brought the Blackbirds increased support in the poll.

LIU received seven place votes and 144 points compared to three and 128 for second-ranked Evansville, 15-2.

The ratings and records are based on play through last Saturday.

The Top Ten and total points on a 10-9-etc. basis:

1. Long Island U.	144
2. Evansville	128
3. Kentucky Wesleyan	93
4. Southwest Missouri St.	91
5. Southwest Louisiana	89
6. Trinity, Tex.	57
7. Norfolk State	52
8. Guilford	45
9. McNeese State	38
10. Pan American	38

Thief 'freezes' seeing Davidson

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Oakland Raider tackle Ben Davidson just stood there and frightened a would-be robber so much that the thief didn't move until police came and arrested him.

Police said Davidson just happened to be in a Laredo service station at the same time an attempted robbery took place recently.

When the robber started to leave he ran smack into all 280 pounds of mustached Davidson and just "froze," police said.

New gun law takes effect

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Game Commission reminded hunters Friday that a new law which takes effect Monday tightens regulations governing hunting from the road.

The new act makes it unlawful for any hunter who spots a target from a moving vehicle to fire at his game unless he stops and walks at least 25 yards from the roadway.

The act does not, the commission emphasized, prohibit all hunting within 25 yards of a highway as had been widely construed.

The law was not intended to prohibit a person whose car had been parked along the roadway for a considerable period of time from shooting within the 25-yard zone, the commission said.

The commission said the new statute was designed solely to curb the practice of hunters sighting targets from slow-moving vehicles, alighting and firing near a highway.

Press center food talk of Grenoble

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — If the 2,000 newsmen covering the Winter Olympics had a gold medal to award, it would go to the dapper, pencil-moustached Frenchman who provides their food.

The press center restaurant is the talk of Grenoble. So much so that guards have to check press credentials at the entrance to keep out athletes or sports officials looking for something better than the frugal fare served in the Olympic village a mile away.

The organizer of this culinary splurge is Roger A. Verge, whose two-star restaurant on the French Riviera has long been a landmark for connoisseurs of the best French food.

Tom Gangwere, President of the Lake Wallenpaupack Association, said, "We had a very successful snowmobile rally last year and feel that the location we have selected on top of the Mountain Bay Airpark is probably one of the most scenic areas a 'snowmobile rally' has ever been held." Gangwere also went on to say that a buffet supper will be held at the Walenpaupack Motor Lodge on Saturday night at which time the "queen" will be crowned.

In case of postponement of this rally, the "Snow Date" will be the following weekend, February 24 and 25, for all events including the contest for the queen.

'Bus poll' favorable to plan

DELAWARE WATER GAP — More than 100 favorable replies have been received to a Delaware Water Gap "bus poll" conducted by the Chamber of Commerce.

A one day clip out advertisement seeking public reaction to a proposed bus service for a Water Gap-State Belt run appeared in The Pocono Record Friday.

According to Mrs. Steven Matos, Chamber of Commerce treasurer, the replies favoring the bus service represent all areas of Monroe County and the State Belt region.

She said the returns are running above chamber expectations for the proposed route that will run between Stroudsburg, Delaware Water Gap, Portland and Bangor.

The results of the poll and future action will be discussed during the Friday, Feb. 23 meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in the home of Dayton Osborn.

E. W. Fisher services held

STRODSBURG — Funeral services were held Friday at 2 p.m. for Edwin W. Fisher, 49, of 2165 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg in the William H. Clark Funeral Home, with Rev. William C. Leopold officiating.

Burial was in Prospect Cemetery, East Stroudsburg. Pallbearers were, Marvin Alexander, John Durkee, Paul Lewis, Richard Martin, Robert Stetzer, and Robert Shick.

Delaware Water Gap firm official forced to land plane

DELAWARE WATER GAP — A Delaware Water Gap businessman and pilot was forced to make an emergency landing Thursday afternoon when the motor of this plane developed a malfunction as he was about to land at the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton airport, Allentown.

According to State Police who investigated the emergency landing, Harold E. Ingraham, 204 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, was not injured in the landing. The engine of the Cessna 180 "cooked out" at about 6,000 feet as the plane made an approach to the A-B-E Airport.

'Youth Winter Carnival' to be held at Water Gap

DELAWARE WATER GAP — The second annual "Youth Winter Carnival" will be held here Sunday at Lake Lenape.

The ice-skating event will begin at 2:30 p.m. and is sponsored by the Delaware Water Gap Chamber of Commerce.

The featured events will include ice skating races for youngsters in three age groups followed by the awarding of trophies and hot refreshments.

Activities committee chairman Steven Matos said all borough youngsters are eligible for the events with boys and girls events planned separately.

The racing will be in three classes, junior; eight to eleven, intermediate, ages 12 to 15, and senior, 16 to 18.

The Women's Civic Club of the Gap will serve as hostesses for the Carnival and serve refreshments.

A "bad weather" date has been set up for Sunday, Feb. 18.

2,269 enroll at ESSC

EAST STRODSBURG — East Stroudsburg State College opened for the second semester of the 1967-1968 academic year with a total enrollment of 2,269 students according to figures released by Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president.

In the total there are 622 students majoring in elementary education, 271 in the liberal arts, 573 in secondary education, 643 in health and physical education, and 160 classified as special students.

Special students carry less than the required 12 credit hours per semester.

ESSC professor judges debate

EAST STRODSBURG — Warren A. Gasink, assistant professor of speech and director of forensics at East Stroudsburg State College, judged a debate between Susquehanna University and Lehigh University which was taped for television by a Wilkes-Barre station.

Part of a taped program series entitled "Let's Argue," the debate between students of the two universities will be aired on WBRE-TV Channel 28 on Sunday at 10 a.m.

Pocono Lake resident dies at 68

POCONO LAKE — Arthur Knecht, Sr., 68, Long Pond, died at his home Friday after an illness of three months.

He was a son of the late Reuben and Barbara Custard Knecht and a life-long resident of Long Pond.

Mr. Knecht had been employed at Bethlehem Steel Co. and at the National Drug Co. in Swiftwater for 13 years.

Survivors include his widow, the former Helen Bellis; five sons: Alfred, James and Richard, all of Saylorsburg, and Arthur, Jr., and Charles of Pocono Pines.

He is also survived by eight daughters: Mrs. George Clark, Cresco; Mrs. Lorraine Luton, Buttzown; Mrs. Madeline Gower, Hatboro; Mrs. Shirley Miller, Tobyhanna; Mrs. Lee Small, Kunklestown; Mrs. Arlene Kibler, Bath; Mrs. Alberta Gardner, Pocono Lake, and Mrs. Jean Fisher, Pocono Pines; 30 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Two surviving sisters are Mrs. Agnes Eschenbach, Long Pond, and Mrs. Elsie Kutz, Phillipsburg, N. J.

Funeral services will be held in the Kresge Funeral Home, Brodheadsville, on Feb. 13, at 2 p.m. with Rev. Kenneth Gay officiating. Burial will be in the Long Pond Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home on Feb. 12 after 7 p.m.

National Electrical Week...a time to reflect

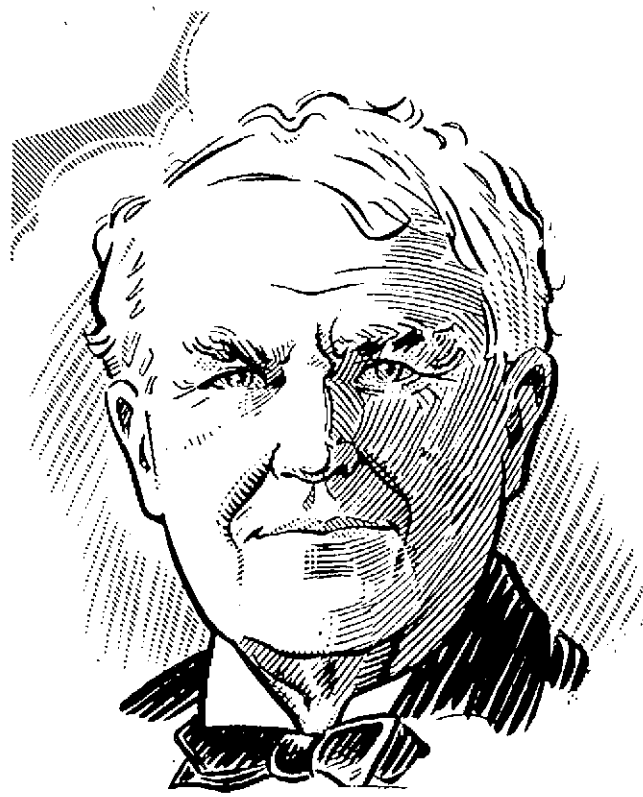

Met-Ed joins with Americans in the observance of National Electrical Week, February 11-17, an anniversary celebration beginning on Thomas Alva Edison's birthdate.

This is an excellent time for all of us to reflect on the immeasurable contribution this great scientist made for the betterment of mankind.

It was 89 years ago that Edison invented the first electric light bulb, and although that globe burned only 40 hours, it has illuminated the world. Indeed, the revolution Edison created with his inventive genius has grown in succeeding waves, as one development after another opened the way for countless new advances.

From electric toothbrushes to fantastic computers, we are using electricity today in ways not many years ago were little more than dreams. And the prospects for the future are even more promising.

We at Met-Ed are proud to honor the father of electricity—Thomas Edison—and to rededicate ourselves to continuing service to you.

Thomas A. Edison
